ANDERSON SETS UP REASONS FOR NEW TRIAL

TODAY

Another Trial Wanted.
Nervous, in Italy.
The King Shoots.
Atterbury's Optimism.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Mrs. Lansdowne, widow of Commander Lawnsdowne, killed on the Shenandoah by stupid incompetence, tells a story that will interest the president.

This woman, plunged in grief, knowing that her husband had been killed because his superiors disregarded his objection to their plans, was subjected to pressure of a most disgraceful kind.

Army and navy personages inclined to put officers on trial will find material in the officers that tried to bully an unfortunate woman and extort false testimony from her. A trial of those men would please the people of the United States considerably more than the trial of Col. Mitchell, who told the truth and served the public.

You read of "great nervous tension" in Italy, caused partly by strict newspaper censorship. It is not easy to govern a country, as Mussolini must govern, by sheer will power. At every hour of the day he is in danger of his life and knows it, but that is among the least of his worries.

Whatever history may say of him, it must admit that when he seized power, Italy had her choice between Mussolini and anarchy.

For the sake of the Italian people it is to be hoped that the United States will not exercise hard financial pressure on the Italian people. To do so might upset European conditions, with disastrous effects upon the whole world, including the good old U. S. A.

England, in spite of her unemployed, diminished trade, coal troubles, etc., goes along cheerfully. Good King George has gone to shoot with the Earl of Iveagh.

As they proceed through the estate, shooting as they go, traveling kitchen accompanies them. Servants carry their guns, load them, hand them up when the time comes to shoot.

Sometimes "six guns" in one day's shooting bring down as many as 1,000 pheasants and 500 patridges.

It is a most noble, glorious and inspiring sport, every bit as exciting as it would be to enter the Earl of Iveagh's chicken yard, shooting right and left.

In Britain it is called "sport." There is one advantage: it enables the traveling American to buy, all-cooked, for four shillings or less, a pheasant that has cost the Earl of Iveagh 20 shillings, merely for the pleasure of killing it.

In his talk to 175 business men at the Duquesne club in Pittsburgh, W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, talked, convincingly, the sort of optimism that the country needs.

ARGUMENTS ON MOTION IN MANSLAUGHTER CASE MAY BE HEARD MONDAY

Six Points of Error and Discovery of New Evidence Pointed Out by Attorneys F. E. Grosshans of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, Acting for Defense.

PRISONER PAVES WAY FOR CARRYING FIGHT FOR ACQUITTAL TO HIGH COURT

Verdict is Against Weight of Evidence, While Judge Erred in Refusing to Permit Jury to Inspect and Examine Automatic Gun as Well as in His Charge, is Claim.

Arguments on the defense motion for a new trial for George Anderson, 43, East Liverpool automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, convicted of manslaughter in the death of Frank R. McLain, 25, taxicab fleet manager, shot on Oct. 3, last, will be heard by Judge J. B. Worley, of Cadiz, in common pleas court Lisbon, Monday or Tuesday, it was announced today.

The motion for the new trial, notice of which was given Wednesday when the jury returned its verdict in the Anderson case, was filed late yesterday afternoon by Attorneys Frank E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, representing the defendant.

Six points of error and the discovery of new evidence are reasons assigned by the defense for the new trial.

In the event the defense motion is overruled, the case is expected to be carried to the appellate court.

Causes for New Trial.

The defense motion for a new trial says:

"The defendant moves the court to sit aside the verdict for a new trial for the following reasons:

"3—The court erred in refusing to permit the jury to inspect and examine, during the trial, the automatic gun, state's exhibit 'C.'

"4—The court erred in his charge to the jury.

"6—The verdict was rendered for the state of Ohio when it should have been rendered in favor of the defendant.

"7 — Newly discovered evidence which the defendant with reasonable diligence could not have discovered and provided at the trial."

Pending disposal of the motion, Anderson has not been sentenced.

Phone Girls Stay At Switchboard in Burning Building

NEWARK, Nov. 14.—Loss estimated today at $30,000 was caused by a fire which swept Hebron, 12 miles west of here, last night, and for a time the whole town was endangered by a strong wind which scattered sparks.

The fire originated in the Atwood bakery, and followed an explosion. The bakery and a residence adjoining were destroyed and other buildings damaged.

Allege Tony Mualatto Held Girl Prisoner in Rooming House.

Tony Mualatto, alias Malone, was committed to the county jail at Lisbon today to serve a three months' sentence and liquidate a fine of $200 assessed by Mayor Charles Brown last night upon a statutory charge.

Mualatto was arrested at a Broadway rooming house by Captain Conley at 7 o'clock last night. He is alleged to have been living with a girl, 21 years of age, who came here about three weeks ago from Pennsylvania. Police say that the girl was held a prisoner in her room for 24 hours by Mualatto.

The girl, against whom no charges were filed, was turned over to the Salvation Army for the night. The mayor announced that the girl will be permitted to go to her home.

BLAME CARBON MONOXIDE GAS FOR ILLNESS OF SIX CO-EDS

WARNING ISSUED

Nine Fatal Gassings so Far This Year in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Carbon monoxide gas was responsible for the sudden and mysterious illness of six Ohio State university co-eds last Wednesday following a party at which home made candy was served, the state health department announced today after a full investigation of the case.

It had previously been reported that the girls were suffering from ptomaine poisoning or "some mysterious ailment not determined."

Dr. N. C. Dysart, of the Columbus health board, and Drs. Emery R. Hayhurst and Daniel J. Kindel, of the state department of health, conducted the investigation and issued the official report of their findings.

Bellaire Girl is Victim.

"It is our conclusion that the illnesses described were due to acute carbon monoxide poisoning from a gas stove of the radiant type set in a fire place which did not have an effective chimney ventilation.

A likely contributing factor was the change in the weather from a fine, bright day to a murky, drizzling evening and a general lowering of the outside temperature,' the report read.

Those taken ill were Miss Anne McDermott, her sister, Helen, both of Stockport; Blanche I. Harris, Ravenna; Rhea Pettit, Logan; Mrs. Baldwin Dickinson, Columbus, and Esther Pinkay, Bellaire.

Dr. Monger's Warning.

In connection with the health department's investigation of the case, Dr. John E. Monger, director of the department, issued the following warning concerning the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning.

"We have had nine fatal cases of carbon monoxide poisonings so far this season.

"I desire to emphasize, as this instance illustrates, the greatest importance of being certain that all fire places in which gas stoves are burning are actually effectively vented to the exterior, and are not blocked up by obstructions of any kind. Be certain that any dampers in fire places are also opened. Be very careful of radiant types of gas stoves to see that they are always vented just like coal stoves or coal fires. The most common poison abroad in the land is carbon monoxide.'

AWAIT DECISION ON ROAD ROUTE

Decision as to the permanent routing of the Lisbon-East Palestine road, included in the 1926-27-28 improvement program, is expected soon, following a hearing conducted by the State Highway department at Lisbon yesterday.

The hearing was in charge of W. C. Fawcett, locating engineer with the department. Attorney W. H. Vodrey, East Liverpool, spoke for a route which would pass through Achor, and would tap a road which Pennsylvania will build to the state line, east of Achor.

Attorney L. M. Kyes, East Palestine, opposed this route, favoring a road passing through Elkton, Rogers and Negley. This is designated as Route No. 1.

Sensational Murder Trial In Indiana Goes to Jury

Both Sides in Case of Stephenson, Gentry and Klinck, Accused of Girl's Death, Expect Early Verdict.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 14.—The trial of D. C. Stephenson, former Klan dragon, and his two aides, Earl Gentry and Earl Klinck, for the alleged murder of Madge Oberholtzer, went to the jury today at 11:56 a. m.

Bother prosecution and defense attorneys said they expected a speedy verdict and both sides were confident of victory. It was pointed out that members of the jury had packed their grips early today, apparently hoping to go to their homes by night.

During the trial, one of the most sensational in Indiana court annals, the prosecution presented testimony intended to show that Miss Oberholtzer committed suicide as a result of treatment she received from Stephenson, once dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and his two associates. The defense claimed that the girl killed herself on her own volition and not as a result of any act of the defendants.

THAD BROWN ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR G. O. P. GUBERNATORIAL PLACE

Promises to Apply Coolidge Principles to State Government if Elected in 1926.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Secretary of State Thad H. Brown today formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor in 1926.

"I have been a constant admirer of President Calvin Coolidge and of his policy of administering the affairs of the nation in a business-like manner at a minimum of public expense," said Brown. "It will be my desire, if elected to the office of governor, to apply the same principles to state government which have proved so effective in the conduct of the nation's business."

Brown stated it is his purpose to conduct "a vigorous and aggressive campaign," and to make personal visits to each of the 88 counties of Ohio. "I shall keep my campaign clean, avoid all references to personalities and base my appeal upon my record of service as secretary of state," Brown promised.

State Committee Meets

His hat is the second tossed in the ring. Mrs. Evalyn Frances Snow of Mt. Vernon, former state motion picture censor, yesterday announced her candidacy. She is the first woman to seek the gubernatorial nomination in Ohio.

Arrest Robbery Suspects

Lisbon officials have taken two youths into custody, who are suspected of being implicated in three county seat town robberies. Names of the suspects will not be made public until the investigation has been completed.

The burglaries occurred at the Adams Carriage shop, Washington street and South Beaver, where a few pennies were secured; the C. E. Burnett garage, Jefferson street, where four automobiles and a jack were stolen and the Wilson shoe store where about $20 was taken from the cash register, after entrance had been made through a back window.

Bride-elect Fears Friday, 13th; Her Wedding Postponed

Friday, the thirteenth, did not mean anything to Archibald R. Easterly, of Columbiana, a prospective bridegroom, when he applied for a marriage license at Lisbon yesterday afternoon, but the jinx day thought was in the mind of his bride-elect, Miss Sarah E. Sample.

"That's not all of it," said Easterly, when attention was directed to the calendar. "I was born on the thirteenth day of the month."

And adding to the worries of the bride-elect was the fact that it was exactly 3:13 p. m. when the marriage license was handed to the couple.

Then the bride-elect suggested that the wedding should be postponed until Saturday. It is to be performed by Rev. Mr. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in Columbiana.

HUGH BLAZIER ARRESTED WHEN HE ATTEMPTS TO CASH CHECK

Admits Breaking Into Chambers-Wilson Grocery Store.

SUSPECT QUIZZED

Prisoner Names Alleged Confederate in One Burglary.

Hugh Blazier, 17, Central avenue, East End, is in custody of Columbiana county probate court officials today, facing a reform school sentence, as a result, police say, of a confession last night that he robbed the Chambers and Wilson grocery store, Pennsylvania avenue, several weeks ago, and also broke into the business house twice during the last week.

Police are looking for Blazier's alleged confederate in the first job. His name was revealed by the prisoner.

Bogus Check Lad's Undoing

Blazier, police say, entered the Chambers & Wilson store a week ago last Thursday night, Nov. 5, and again on Tuesday night, Nov. 10, when unsuccessful attempts were made to open the safe.

An alleged attempt to pass a forged check, said to have been taken from the grocery store during the last robbery, proved the lad's undoing.

A check for $125, payable to "Cash," which bore the forged signature of Raymond Chambers, was presented at the Union Credit Clothing store, West Fifth street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in payment for an overcoat.

The check, the store owner, told Chambers, whom he called on the telephone, was presented by Blazier.

COUNCIL WILL SEEK CARNEGIE PUBLIC LIBRARY AUDITORIUM AS COURTROOM FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Second floor of the Carnegie Libary will become headquarters for East Liverpool's new municipal court, to be established on January 1, if a plan outlined at a meeting of the city solons last night is approved by the library trustees.

According to Councilman N. P. Kerr, who made the suggestion, there is nothing in the library grant, which would prohibit the use of the building for court purposes. Permission would rest entirely with the library commission.

A committee of councilmen, James Larcombe, N. P. Kerr and Charles Hayes, will meet with the library trustees probably next Tuesday evening to formally request the use of the building for the court.

City Short of Funds.

The second floor of the library, it is argued, should afford ideal headquarters for the court. The main assembly room in the south-east corner of the building has seating accommodations for 200 persons, while adjoining rooms might be used for jury and other purposes.

Solon Kerr asserted that council is without funds to remodel the second floor of the city hall for a municipal court. He pointed out that the court during the first year might earn sufficient money to pay for these improvements if the library is available during that period.

Second Vote on Salary Slash

By a vote of 4 to 2, council passed on second reading the ordinance which reduces the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year, effective January 1, 1926. With the exception of Councilman Fred Eardley, who was absent from the meeting, the vote line-up was the same as on first reading. Farrall, Hayes, Kerr and Larcombe supported the proposal, while Councilman Chambers and Rowe opposed it. There was no discussion of the ordinance.

A committee of East End women appeared in behalf of a petition containing 102 signatures, urging construction of a flight of steps down Sylvian alley from Erie street. It was pointed out that many workers at the Laughlin pottery use this route, and in the winter season, it is almost impossible to get up and down the alley because it is so steep. The petition was referred to Service Director Ellis with recommendations that the request be complied with.

Councilman Kerr of the street committee called attention to a broken sanitary sewer near the City hospital. Engineer George explained that the trouble was due to the fact that the sewer was clogged where it emptied into the river and that a dredge boat would be necessary to open it. The engineer also said that the opening in the culvert across Virginia avenue, near the Second Presbyterian church, would be repaired within the next two weeks.

Complaints Are Heard.

Farrall complained about a depression in the street paving near the Clifford Bough residence, College and Fifth street, and the location of the fire hydrant near the Dr. O. D. Shay residence. Council instructed the service director to have the street commissioner raise the bricks in the street paving at the point complained of and to paint the fire plug.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 95.

J. Reginald Ainsley, whose sophistication was rarely scratched, was inclined to be amused at his daughter's vivid and excited description of the tempestuous scene in Vera Vaine's apartment, but he presented an unrevealing visage as he listened to her with an attentive silence which he punctuated effectually by tightening his grip on her arm whenever her indignation threatened to make her breathless.

"She's a desperate woman," Amoura exclaimed for the second time, in concluding.

Her father patted her reassuringly. "Oh, I don't think so. Let me handle the matter. Get hold of Philip and keep him away from her."

"I don't think THAT will be necessary?" she said stonily.

"Well, you make him take you to dinner tonight, and then to a show—any show except the one she is in. And tomorrow we'll be able to go home with all this settled."

"Father, what are you going to do?"

"Never mind. Just don't worry."

In the intermission of the performance that evening of "Ha! Ha! Harry" the call-boy brought a box to the dressing room of Vera Vaine.

The actress dropped the rouge and grabbed the box, in which a single orchid nestled. Lying across the flower was one-half of a bill of the denomination mentioned by the maid.

"For Pete's sake!" Vera Vaine exclaimed. She dug down into the box and brought out a card: Sup with me. Reggy."

"REGGY! Say, are you sure this was addressed to me?" A horrible doubt seized Vera Vaine.

"Here's de label—Mis' Vera Vaine."

The call boy burst in. "Ready, Miss Vaine." Her heart thumping, Vera hurriedly daubed her cheeks, gave her costume a shake, and followed him out. Reggy! Reggy! Thousand dollar bills torn half in two. For Pete's sake! Her heart was not in the song she was singing as the curtain rose again. Her eyes were searching the audience for the glance of a man which would identify him as Reggy. She overlooked an amused pair of eyes that regarded her from the sixth row, on the aisle.

The wet, slimy alley back of the Jolly theatre at 11:45 in the evening. Vera Vaine showed herself in the dim light blinking over the portal marked "Stage Entrance," and regarded the line of three taxis, one coupe and one limousine. A sedate looking elderly man, whose silk hat shone like a beacon of wealth, smiled at her, and held half a bill so that it could be seen by the dimmed headlights of the limousine. The actress tripped softly toward him.

Ten minutes after midnight at Club Moscow, in East 57th street, Vera Vaine studied the elderly man opposite her.

"So your name is Reggy," she laughed. "Well, you ought not be allowed thousand dollar bills, if that's the way you treat 'em all the time."

He shrugged and threw over the other half of the bill.

"I have exactly two dozen more of these in my pocket, and they're all for you."

Her heart was beating fast; she stared at him.

"Oh, it's easy money," reassuringly.

"What's your game?"

"Simply this, little girl: I want those letters written to you by one Philip Weinrich."

"Oh ho!" Her eyes lightened. "So that's it! Well,not so fast."

J. Reginald Ainsley drew a pad of bills of the denomination of one thousand dollars from his pocket and laid them on the table before him. "Before you say anything else, listen to me. . . . I happen to know who pays the rent on your apartment."

The actress colored.

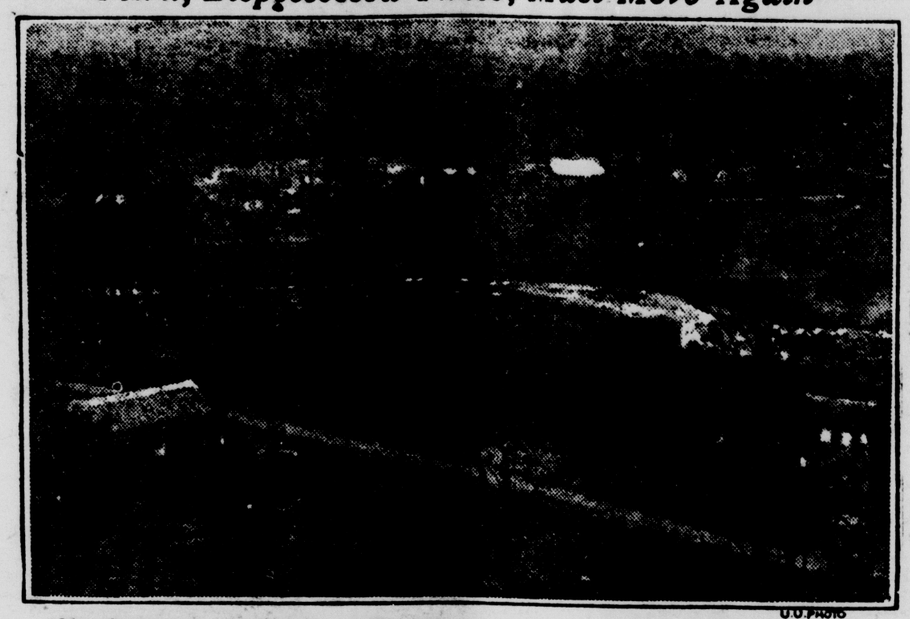

"I think you'd better take these." He indicated the bills. "You wouldn't get a cent if you took it to court, but I don't want that young fool's name in the papers, so I am making this donation. He doesn't want to give you a cent, and wouldn't. So you just sit down and write him a letter, and tell him you're sorry, and enclose that bunch of idiotic letters you have. Then these will be yours."

For a moment she studied him, then nodded her head.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1925.

The Toll of Carelessness

School children were among the three or four score automobile accident victims in Ohio and West Virginia last week.

A nine-year-old girl, run down on St. Clair avenue yesterday, when, according to the police report, she darted from behind one car and directly in the path of another machine, was the second East Liverpool district casualty. She is in the City hospital, recovering from a scalp laceration.

A 13-year-old Chester boy, struck as he attempted to cross the street on his way to school, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries that may prove fatal.

Two children were killed and 35 injured when a truck, bearing youthful rooters to a high school soccer football game, sped down a dangerous hill to a curve and then plunged down a 30-foot embankment, splintering itself against a concrete abutment.

In a dozen other cities, boys and girls were among those killed or injured in traffic crashes.

And most of these accidents bear out the facts learned by the Cleveland Automobile club in a study of the traffic problem. This showed that in 1924 58 per cent of adults injured were injured through their own negligence; of the children injured 68 per cent were injured through their own negligence. In only 39 per cent of the accidents were the drivers held by the police to be responsible.

France To Disarm

The American public takes new interest in Europe lately, as Europe does so many unexpected things. One of the latest and most incredible innovations is the French proposal to disarm.

It is said in Paris that if the present government remains in power, it will announce a reduction of armament "which will leave France as disarmed as Germany is," as soon as the treaty of Locarno is signed. That event is due on December 1.

The French, says the correspondent of a leading American newspaper, "wish to set an example at Geneva, and give the league of nations the credit." If they do, it may be a back-handed slap at America, intended to eliminate, in a grand gesture, any hope our country or government may have had for leading disarmament effort in the future as it has done in the past.

That is all right with us. Most Americans don't care much how Europe disarms, or who gets the credit, as long as it disarms.

Rusting Away

Rust, a steel man finds, consumes 4,000,000 tons of steel a year in this country. Its average value is perhaps $100 a ton. So rust costs us $400,000,000 a year, or $18 a family. It costs the average farmer's family more than that, because of the rural practice of leaving valuable machinery outdoors, unprotected, in all kinds of weather, and skimping paint and oil.

Eighteen dollars a year would buy a pretty fair outfit for the kitchen, or provide a bicycle for a boy or girl, or maintain a good outfit of tools for the man of the house to use about the place, thereby saving a lot of other waste.

Manufacturers can help prevent this waste by making more steel products non-rustable, by galvanizing and other processes. But the main responsibility rests upon the owner. Nine-tenths of all this expensive rusting is plain shiftlessness in the use of the most valuable metal in the world.

Beautiful And Bright

Sarcastic critics of our national beauty contests may have the wrong formula. "Beautiful" and "dumb" may not necessarily go together. They do not belong together at all, if Albert E. Wiggam, a eugenics lecturer, knows what he is talking about.

The good-looking women, says Mr. Wiggam, usually have more brains than the others. Brain development goes with general physical development. So the formula should be "beautiful and brainy," with an opposite formula, "homely and dumb."

This, surely, is more than the homely ones can bear. They have always consoled themselves for their lack of good looks by their assurance of good minds. If homeliness and dumbness are synonyms, what hope is left, except perhaps beauty of character? And character is not valued so highly as it used to be.

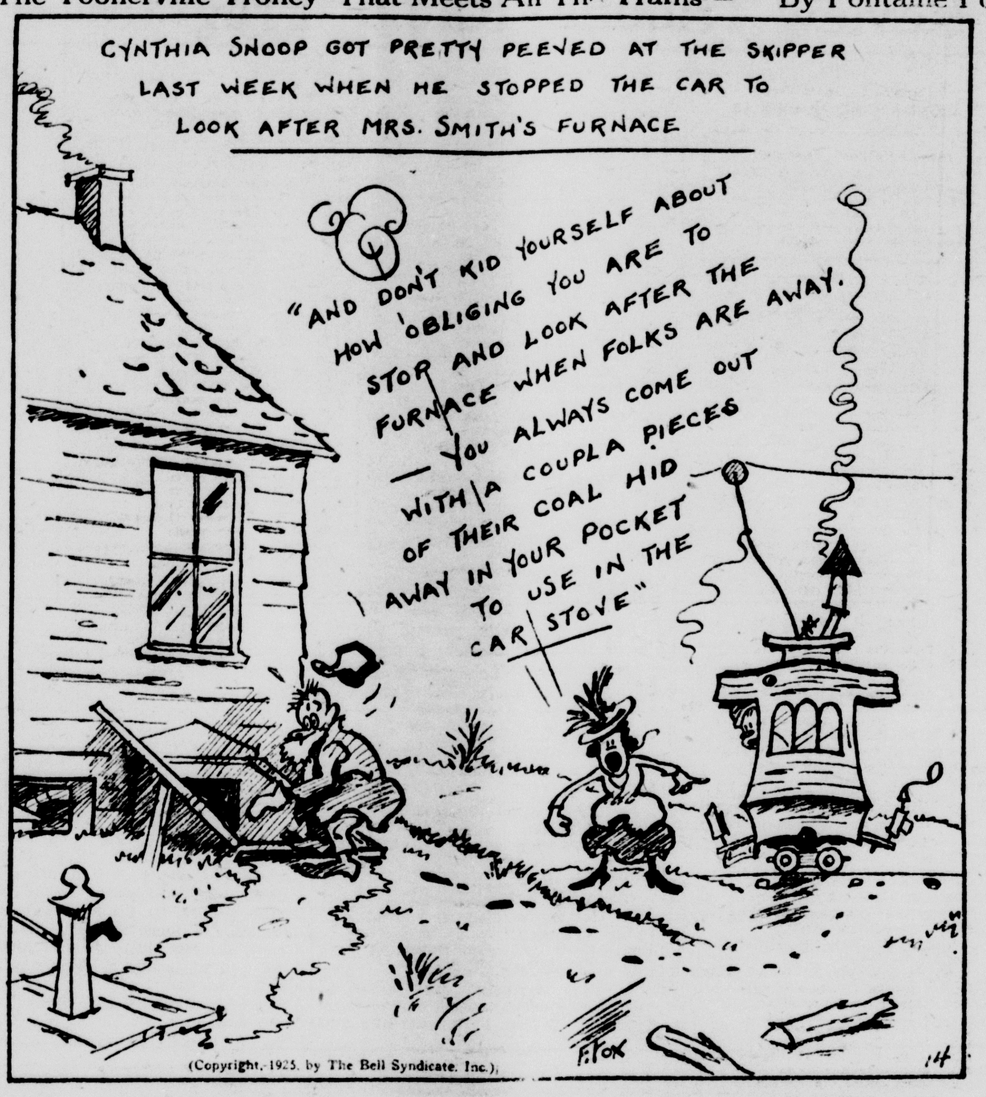

Any self-confessed homely girl, however, has a perfect right to question Mr. Wiggam's conclusions. Possibly he doesn't see straight. Possibly the pretty ones have fooled him. It's hard even for a scientific gentleman, when gazing at a beautiful face, to believe that there's nothing behind it.

Do your Christmas shopping now. The members of the British royal family have already selected the designs for their Christmas greeting cards, and it is time the rest of us got busy.

Many motor trucks, advertisers boast, have run 300,000 miles or more. Very likely. Most of the trucks on the street sound like it.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—You do not see them any more. When lights came on, they winged their way, like moths to the flame, scanning the crowds for a face responsive to the sheepish, beckoning wink. They had garish white faces and often suspicious coughs. Storm-tossed human ships that passed in the night.

The oldest and most tragic profession has been swept by reform from the boulevards and side streets. Daily hundreds of them were carted to the day and night courts where their souls were exposed, naked and pathetic, to the curious gaze of loungers and hangers-on.

Theirs was a world of flimsy pose and deceit. No matter how hard they tried they could not belie their telltale painted faces. O. Henry used to enjoy studying them and they furnished much material for his copy. The story is that he and a friend accosted two of them one evening.

They had eddied under a hotel canopy like human driftwood. The dining room blazed with light and there was music behind palms. O. Henry suggested they join them for dinner. They did. It was a dull, almost silent meal, and when they left his friend chided him.

Certainly such colorless women could not afford copy even for his facile pen. "But they did," he cried. "Nothing came of it but the glow that wrapped their faces when the soup came. That's a story and a big one." And thus it later became.

Vice squads drove women from the highways. They lived in constant terror of the law. And finally they faded away completely. Some were driven to other cities and to their credit many took up more honorable callings and became respectable.

The nymph du pave is rarely seen in court. In many ways prohibition halted their meanderings. There are no beer halls and saloon back rooms in which they may loiter. The change that whisked them off the street came so slowly and gradually that New York scarcely noticed it until they were gone.

Ada Lewis, beloved of the Broadway stage as a "rough and tough character" actress, passed on after almost a year of pathetic wandering about the Rialto with a clouded mind. It was of Miss Lewis, who was nameless, I wrote several months before her illness became known, and of her tragic visits nightly to the dressing room which she had once occupied. Nightly she rushed from dinner there, just as she had in other days. A kindly management humored her and furnished a maid. She would wait for her cue and then seem suddenly to realize she was living over the past and would return home. She was on the stage for 35 years without missing a part until her last illness. Even then she tried to carry on.

A restaurateur has kept tab on his customers and found they averaged 700 cups of coffee a year. He had one customer whose breakfast always consisted of four cups of black coffee and nothing else. He is not with us any more.

This same restaurant has a waiter with a perpetual smile. He could pose for one of those posters: "The Smile Wins!" Remembering to smile, he forgets other things. It may upset philosophy, but there are times when it might be written "the man worth a crown is the man with a frown."

In one of the biggest hotel dining rooms the other night at the dinner hour there were seven diners and 52 captains and waiters. That ought to start a few first-class frowns. A heavy rain had something to do with it.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Make Christmas a Holiday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—Postal employes are at last to be permitted an opportunity to enjoy their Christmas in the same manner in which their fellow citizens do. The postmaster general has just announced that there will be no mail deliveries on Christmas day, which means that for the first time these men will be able to spend the entire day with their families.

Previous to 1923 Christmas meant only extra work to postal employes instead of being a day of festivity. In that year, however, an edict went forth from the department that there would be no rural deliveries on Christmas day and in the cities mail would be delivered only until 12 o'clock, noon. This meant that the postman was able to eat his dinner with his family. This experiment proved successful and the following year no mail was delivered after eleven o'clock. And now Christmas is to be declared an all-day holiday and if it is found that this does not interfere materially with the service to the public, it will no doubt become a permanent institution.

In order that these faithful employees of Uncle Sam may enjoy the same privileges on Christmas as their brothers and sisters, it is necessary that the public cooperate. It may do this by meeting with the request of the department to mail early. For several years the postal authorities have been conducting campaigns for the early mailing of Christmas packages and have met with considerable success. Whereas a few years ago the peak business of the Christmas rush was on Christmas Eve or Christmas day, it is now about a week before Christmas.

The post office department has had the hearty cooperation of chambers of commerce, newspapers, motion picture theater operators, and other public agencies. This year the chambers of commerce in many cities have begun campaigns on their own initiative, and this has pleased the department. It shows that the public is in accord with the endeavor to clean up the Christmas rush of mail early enough for the postal employees to enjoy a holiday on that day. That the families of these men appreciate having them home was shown by a letter received by the postmaster general the first year that mail deliveries were stopped early. This was signed by all the children of a postman and expressed their pleasure at having their daddy with them for Christmas dinner for the first time. Imagine the added joy they will feel this year when they learn that he will be able to spend his entire day with them.

Send Greetings Early.

One of the points the department wishes to stress is the importance of mailing Christmas greeting cards early, as well as packages. It has been noticed that there is a tendency to mail these at the last minute, thus causing a congestion of these and in many cases resulting in their not being delivered until after Christmas. Also it is requested that these greeting cards be at least 2 3-4x4 inches in size, a size somewhat larger being preferable. Judging from the styles displayed this year by the stationers, the manufacturers of these cards are cooperating with the department in this matter. The department on its side is going to do everything possible to see that all greeting cards are given prompt attention. It was found that at some post offices where there were large numbers of Christmas and New Year's cards mailed, precedence was given to letters and parcels. All offices have now been requested by the department to provide special facilities for handling this class of mail.

The public is asked to cooperate with the department not only by mailing early but by complying with certain instructions such as: "Prepay postage fully on all mail matter. Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box number wherever possible. Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Insure valuable parcels." In order to encourage early mailing the department will permit parcels to be marked "Do not open until Christmas." It is, however, requested that Christmas seals and stickers not be placed on the address side of mail.

The campaign of the department will be carried on through the usual methods of posters in all post offices and other public places, and slides shown on motion picture screens. Incidentally this is considered one of the best means of publicity the department has, it being explained that people will read anything displayed on the screen for fear that they might miss something they really wanted to see. Notices will also appear in the daily press and there will be the customary improvised post offices on trucks which are used on the downtown streets of many large cities.

Clerks Instructed in Duties.

The department is not confining its campaign to the public. It is conducting one within itself—that is, it is issuing many instructions and offering many suggestions to local postmasters and their clerks. For instance as early as October postmasters were requested to begin the training and instruction of those persons who are to be employed for the rush. Clerks whose duty it is to issue money orders, and particularly international money orders, are urged to be especially careful to make these out legibly and correctly so that there may be no delay in their transmittal.

The postmaster at New York says that the seriousness of the problem of deciphering carelessly written money-order advices may be realized by the fact "that the clerks engaged on the exchange are even resorting to poetry in their endeavor to make the issuing clerks write legibly." In this connection a clerk in the Swedish bureau of the New York exchange office offers the following, "The Christmas rush is on again, With window clerks we plead in vain; 'Do cross your t's and dot your i's, A little care please exercise To copy everything complete! And write the name and address neatly; You'd better ad, if doubt there be, A Form six thousand eighty three'."

From all this can be seen that the entire postal force is anxious to see that everyone is given the best possible service so that no one may be disappointed by not receiving all his mail from Santa Claus. When it is known that there are approximately two and a quarter billion pieces of mail handled during the Christmas rush it may be realized that the postal employees need all the cooperation they can get from the public in order that all of this may be promptly delivered.

Read Mrs. Benedict's Letter Praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kewanee, Illinois. — "When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run-down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my 'teens and until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY R. DIVORCE LIST HEARD FRIDAY

Decrees Handed Down By Judge James G. Moore.

Brooks Piper has been granted a decree of divorce from his wife Elsie Piper. The case come up before Judge James G. Moore, and the decree entered in behalf of the plaintiff, who has also been granted the custody of minors.

In the divorce action filed by Donald Gibson against his wife Edna Gibsen, a decree has been granted the plaintiff on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The custody of children has been awarded the defendant, and the plaintiff has been ordered by the court to pay the defendant $22.50 on the first and 15th of each month for the support of the minors.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed in common pleas court by Zora Flecker against Benjamin Flecker, and when the case went before the court and after the examination of witnesses, the decree was granted the plaintiff. She was also restored to her maiden name, that of Zora Merriman.

Soon after they were married Belva Irene Barnette left her husband Norris C. Barnette, of East Liverpool, and he has heard nothing from her for many years, according to the testimony that was given before Judge James G. Moore. Barnette, who resides in East Liverpool had a number of witnesses to support his claim, and he was given a decree.

Because he has been absent for three years, Amelia Windisch has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, John Windisch.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Helen Neuwirth against R. F. Neuwirth. When the case went before the court the plaintiff was granted a decree on her pleadings, and she was restored to her maiden name, that of Helen Miller.

$45,000 DAMAGE SUIT INSTITUTED

A petition claiming $45,000 damages has been filed in common pleas court by Joe Markovick, of R. F. D. No. 1, Salem, against the Natural Gas company of West Virginia, as a result of a truck of the company striking and injuring the plaintiff while he was on the Salem-Damascus road the afternoon of August 27, last.

Markovick declares in his petition that he was about to enter the car of a friend when a machine owned by the defendant company and driven by D. B. McCune came along the road and ran into him, striking him and dragging him into a ditch, wherein he sustained permanent injuries.

While in good health, the petitioner claims that he was enabled to make $150 per month at his usual labor.

SEEK JUDGMENT IN COURT ACTION

In a petition filed in common pleas court by Kate Smith, of East Liverpool, against I. H. Aronson, of that city, it is related that after Aronson gave a check for $100 to an agent of the plaintiff to bind the sale of a piece of property, he stopped payment of the check at the First National bank of East Liverpool.

The plaintiff, it is alleged, placed certain property in the hands of an agent to sell. Aronson gave his check for $100 as a binder. The agent gave was presented at the bank and payment demanded, the bank announced that payment on the check had been stopped. Judgment for $100 and for costs against Aronson is asked by the plaintiff.

Divorce Action Filed.

Murilda C. Campbell, through her counsel, G. Y. Travis, of East Liverpool, has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Harry B. Campbell, whom she married at Carrollton November 22, 1913. The plaintiff declares that her husband has been guilty of three years' wilful absence, and for four years he has failed to provide for her.

Actions Settled.

Settlements have been announced in common pleas court in four actions recently filed on claims for money due the plaintiffs by the Grant Coal company. The claims were filed by Alexander J. Rose for $505.83; Floyd Rose, $375.18; Ernest J. McKenzie, $359.31, and James L. Griffith, $534.75.

State Road Engineer Pleased With Result Of Road Bond Issue

In a letter received by the county commissioners from H. S. Perry, assistant chief engineer of maintenance of the department of highways and public works, Columbus, Mr. Perry declares that the result of the recent approval of a bond issue for $950,000 road bonds in Columbiana was "a vote of confidence." Mr. Perry, who has presided at a number of road locating hearings in this county, said:

"I have long since passed the point of looking upon my work as a matter of routine, and have tried at all times to develop relations of a constructive nature as between the state and counties.

"I am very glad that what little might have been done to help your cause was appreciated; but I would assure you that the vote was far more one of confidence in local administration, and as such I wish to offer you my congratulations and that of the department with the assurance that the funds will be as well expended as the project was conceived, and in the hope that the state will be able to do its part in furthering the cause of good roads in Columbiana county.

Suit Is Filed.

G. R. Pattison, as president, and H. P. Baxter, as treasurer, with D. O. Webb and J. W. Manor, all of East Liverpool, endorsed a note for $2,275 given to the First National bank of East Liverpool by the Crafton Coal and Supply company, and eventually the obligation was discounted as agreed. However, S. Harvey Fisher, a non-resident of Ohio, failed to pay his share of the note amounting to $415, and as a result an action has been filed in common pleas court by the endorsers of the note against Fisher for his share.

WOMEN—

About this time of year you will begin going through the family wardrobe, sorting out apparel for Fall and Winter—and of course—like every other family—will find garments that are "too good" to throw away—yet not presentable for wear.

We suggest having such garments dyed, for in most instances the fabrics will dye beautifully.

LOVE AND MONSTERS CLASH IN NEW MOVIE FEATURE AT THE AMERICAN

Motion pictures for the most part are made for entertainment purposes. Once in a while a picture is made for scientific reasons but rarely is a feature made which combines both entertainment and scientific education.

An exception to the rule is "The Lost World," the First National-Watterson R. Rothacker production which will be shown at the American theatre, beginning Monday.

Love, romance, adventure as well as education are embodied in the amazing film. Professors of Columbia and the University of California who saw the picture in the making declare that the greatest thing that has ever occurred to bring about a popular interest in archaeology was the production of this remarkable film.

Heretofore paleontologists have had to depend upon reconstructed skeletons of the dinosarus for their studies. How they breathed, walked, ate, fought and slept was never actually seen. In many instances these important attributes were merely guesswork. In "The Lost World" they are amazingly and entertainingly revealed and added to this is a plausible and highly romantic story of adventure.

The cast of "The Lost World" is in keeping with the magnitude of the production, including such film luminaries as Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Alma Bennett, Virginia Brown Faire, Arthur Hoyt, Bull Montana, Margaret McWade, Finch Smiles and Jules Cowles

EAGLES TO AID CHILD PATIENT

Ask Help for Youngster Burned Three Weeks Ago.

Members of Columbiana aerie No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of Wellsville, will meet Sunday afternoon in their lodge rooms in Main street for the purpose of formulating plans to obtain funds to aid Ernest Cleckner, aged 8, who had been a patient in the East Liverpool City hospital for 13 weeks suffering from burns.

He was burned from the shoulders to the knees by gasoline in an accident over three months ago. It will be many weeks before he will be able to be moved, according to lodge representatives.

His mother is a widow. She works in a pottery. She has managed to meet expenses thus far, lodge officials point out, except a bill of $200 due the hospital. Medicine bills, it is said, average about $5 a week and the weekly room bill is $21.

The mother wants to take the child home to care for him but his condition is such yet that it is thought inadvisable.

The Eagles' lodge has taken up the case and will attempt to assist in meeting part, at least, or all, if possible, of the financial expense by obtaining contributions. Such gifts, the lodge announced, may be left at Hannum's pharmacy, Thirteenth and Main streets; The Union office, Eighth and Main, and Stewart's cigar store, Main street.

"LOST CHRIST" PASTOR'S TOPIC

Dr. L. H. Lawther gave a strong sermon on "The Lost Christ" at last night's revival services in the First Presbyterian church.

His discourse was based on the record of Christ in the temple when 12 years of age. He pictured vividly how Mary lost her boy and her anxiety regarding him, and told of modern mothers who lose their boys and girls. He appealed to parents to bring up their children from infancy in the church.

The revival meetings will continue through Sunday and all next week. Sunday morning Dr. Lawther will preach an illustrated sermon which will be especially interesting to children. The Sabbath school classes will attend in a body.

On Sunday evening an unusual musical program will be presented. In addition to the choir, a large children's chorus will sing. The sermon on Sunday evening will be particularly designed to attract the attention of young people and Sunday school members. The evening services will start at 7:15.

SPECIAL MEETS AT U. P. CHURCH

Sunday in the First United Presbyterian church will be a day of special services, according to announcement by Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor.

It will be known as a "Friendly Day," and each member of the Bible school, congregation, or young people's organizations is asked to take a friend to the day's services.

In the morning will be held the annual thank-offering service of the missionary organizations of the church. Miss Sallie Dickey, of India, will be the speaker.

In the evening at 7:30 the high school will hold a special service, to which the public is invited.

The service will be under the direction of the student council, and will consist of special musical numbers by the orchestra, vocal selections and an organ recital by Mr. Hoover.

Humorist Tells of Ride in Plane With Col. Mitchell.

Will Rogers, who will be heard at the Ceramic theater on November 23, has decided views about what he likes and doesn't like. He likes rough riding and roping, for instance, but as yet he is not so sure about polo. The following is his excuse for losing a game. "Tommy Hitchcock is the most wonderful player in the world. The only way I could keep from having him beat me was to play on his side.

We lost 13 to 14. The field was too level for me. I am accustomed to playing on rough fields where the ball bounces as all regular balls should bounce."

Rogers has a great respect for aviators, but doesn't want to be one. "There is an old legend," he said, in speaking of his trip in an aeroplane, "that says 'nine-tenths of the brave things done are performed through fear'—well they got me into one of those planes because I was afraid to refuse. Col. William Mitchell, of the air service, said to me: 'I will point out the places of interest to you.' Well, I didn't see him point, nor I didn't see what he pointed at. All I saw was the sky. Washington's home in Mount Vernon might have been Bryan's in Miami. We flew around the Washington monument, and if the thing had had handles on it Mitchell would have lost a passenger."

On the tour marked out for Rogers and the De Reszke Singers there will be no aeroplanes used. The management prefers to use railroads.

WALES IS WARNED "GOOD FELLOW" ROLE DOES NOT QUALIFY FOR THRONE

LONDON.—Veiled warnings to the Prince of Wales that he should not allow his head to be turned by "brainless popular applause," that he should cease "stooping to conquer" and that being a good fellow" is not enough to qualify him to succeed his father on the British throne, have been made by the Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard, rector of St. Martin's in the Fields church.

"The view that royalty exists mainly for popular entertainment, that it is an exhibition specimen standing up to perform turns' rather than functions, has taken hold of a large mass of the population," the vicar wrote in his parish magazine, St. Martin's Review.

"No one would say that the Prince's task is not a difficult one, nor is it possible to deny the charm and grace with which he attempts to fulfill his duties, but foolish and rather brainless applause is being directed against the young heir, and if it is not already having a damaging effect upon his natural goodness, the danger is certainly there.

"Wherever he goes he finds this popular demand for popularity awaiting him; he has not to say or do anything wise or perform anything difficult; it is rather the free-and-easy and unconventional things that thousands of open mouths are ready to acclaim.

"He finds that an enormous popularity can be achieved by one of royal blood who stoops to conquer, and when he does the applause is terrific.

"It is, no doubt, true in a sense that the Prince is sent out upon his for journeys to win the popular mind, but he must win it imaginatively to the service of an ideal of unity which if it can be worthily achieved will make great history. If that be the purpose, it is hindered rather than served by any descent from quiet dignity, even though at the moment popular applause can be won by it.

"There was a time when it was considered sufficient praise of those called upon to occupy prominent positions in the life of the nation to be able to say of them that they were 'good fellows,' but the time for an estimate of that nature is past.

"While welcoming the Prince back to his homeland and thanking him for what he has accomplished, we respectively point to the King and Queen as showing outstanding examples of the way in which the hearts of a great people are to be worthily held."

Find 800-Room Dwelling in Underground Ruins

Albuquerque, N. M.—Ruins of ancient Pueblo Bonito, N. M., which revealed to geologists a prehistoric underground settlement, are declared to be only the "upper story" of still another buried village.

Neill Judd, director of excavations of the National Geographic society, has announced that diggings disclose the second underground city covers at least three and a quarter acres.

Among the dwellings found in the pueblo, Judd said, was a building of 800 rooms, of which 500 were on one floor. Many of the underground dwellings stand four stories high, he said.

'BIG BEER RING' IS EXPOSED BY MILLIONAIRE

Whisky Broker Names Higher-ups in His Confession.

SCANDAL LOOMS

Information Will be Laid Before Federal Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Abraham Levin, millionaire whisky certificate broker, has made a complete confession of the operations of the so-called $9,000,000 "beer ring" which has been flooding the country with high-powered beer, and the information thus obtained will be laid before a new federal grand jury in Chicago for indictments, it was learned here today.

A number of the reputed "higher-ups," involving well known persons in New York and Pennsylvania, have been involved in Levin's revelations, it was said

CHICAGO, Nov 14.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general in charge of prohibition, was expected to reveal in Washington today an amazing story of a beer and whisky ring with Chicago as one of its headquarters, Boston another and other eastern and middle western cities as "stations" in the system.

The information obtained by Mrs. Willebrandt is said finally to open the way to "blow the lid off" the nation-wide beer ring scandal charged here three weeks ago, but which became quiescent after a few days of publicity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Alarmed by the flood of "super-power" beer which is flooding many sections of the country, the house ways and means committee today took under consideration a proposal to place cereal beverage plants under strict government supervision.

If treasury recommendations are followed, cereal beverage producers cannot operate without federal licences, and will be required to pay the old internal revenue tax of $100 annually, formerly assessed against breweries.

Gen. L. C. Andrews, prohibition czar, told members of the committee if this tax was imposed, in addition to the alcohol tax he earlier recommended, the dry authorities would be in a position to stop the flood of high voltage beer that they are now unable to even partially stop.

"Less suspicion, more open confidence in the country," says Mr. Atterbury "maintain everywhere, and that means better times for everyone, including railroads."

The country needs optimism based on cleaner understanding of conditions. There is absolutely nothing the matter with the United States in any direction, except doubt, passimism.

In one of Racine's tragedies, a devoted wife tells her husband, "Don't seek to lose yourself, and you are saved." That's what should be said to every pessimist in the United States.

The jury in the Blazer case is unable to agree after 15 hours deliberation, and Dr. Blazer, who killed his crippled, idiotic daughter, after taking care of her for 32 years, was set free.

The judge told the jury it must convict of murder in the first degree or acquit the man. They did neither. To convict him of murder in the first degree would have been difficult for any jury.

There is, however, danger in the verdict. Other murders may result from what is practically an official decision that men under certain circumstances may use their own judgment about murder.

MITCHELL TRIAL IS IN RECESS

Counsel for Colonel Examines Documents of War Department.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—With his court-martial standing in recess until next Tuesday, counsel for Col. William Mitchell today began the examination of thousands of war department documents subpoaened for use in proving his charges of maladministration of the nation's air defense.

Some of the documents, hastily delivered to the court, prevented a projected adjournment, but the short recess was ordered so Mitchell's counsel might examine the documents necessary for his defense. The war department, however, was bitterly condemned by Representative Frank R. Reid, R., of Illinois, for its delay in delievering the official papers, first subpoenaed on November 2.

Scores of defense witnesses, meanwhile, began arriving in the capitol to take the stand for Mitchell. They included flying officers, congressmen, retired admirals and generals and a number of civilians, experienced in aviation. They came from all sections of the country.

An aftermath of the sensational testimony given the Mitchell court by Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the Shenandoah commander, will be heard Monday, when the Shenandoah court of inquiry reconvenes. Mrs. Lansdowne has been asked to appear before the latter court to explain her charges that Captain Paul J. Foley, an officer of the court, attempted to get her to give "false" testimony. Foley also will appear to deny the charge.

Captain Foley Quits As Judge Advocate Of Shenandoah Quiz

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The resignation of Capt. Paul J. Foley as judge advocate of the naval court that has been investigating the Shenandoah disaster was accepted today by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

Capt. Foley resigned following Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne's charge that he endeavored to persuade her to give "false testimony" before the court that would tend to "whitewash" the navy in the Shenandoah inquiry.

Maj. Henry Leonard, a retired officer of the marine corps, was appointed judge advocate in place of Foley.

Rear Admiral Sims Called as Witness For Col. Mitchell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Rear Admiral William Sims who for some years was to the navy what Colonel Wm. Mitchell has been to the army—a critic of the policies of his superiors—was subpoenaed today as a witness for the flying colonel when his trial by court martial is resumed next week.

Sims and Representative Frank Reid, chief counsel for Mitchell, had a long conference here this morning.

"Ma" Ferguson's Daughter Denies She Used "Pull"

Allegations that Mrs. George S. Nalle (above), Austin, Tex., insurance agent, was able to obtain lucrative contracts to secure state highway bonds because she is the daughter of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, governess of Texas, are being denied by the governess and Mrs. Nalle. The charges were made by Mrs. Ruth Yett, partner of Mrs. Nalle, suing for shares in commissions allegedly due her.

ABOLISH "SUB," LONDONER URGES

LONDON, Nov. 14.—New impetus for the abolition of submarines has resulted from the loss of the British submarine M-1.

Percy MacKinnon, chairman of Lloyds, declares that the time has come for the abolition of the submarine and urges that the proposals made at the Washington conference with regard to submarines be immediately taken up by the great naval powers.

Plans are being made for a naval burial service, to be held over the spot where the M-1 went down. It is probably that this service will be held next week.

SHIP IS TOWED BY BIG WHALE

Alaskan Monster Weighs About 100 Tons.

Tacoma, Wash.—The greatest whaling season ever experienced at Alaskan stations has been recorded this year, declare skippers, whose vessels are arriving here for winter wharfage. Close to 500 whales were caught and processed during the summer. Whaling, which began off Kodiak island May 1, kept 18 ships busy for months, about 40,000 barrels of oil and an enormous quantity of fertilizer being prepered for shipment. No ambergris was found this season.

The largest whale harpooned this season measured 86 feet. The world's record whale is 98 feet 6 inches. The Alaskan monster, weighing about 100 tons, straightened out 400 feet of heavy hauser, besides towing the whaler seven miles before tiring out.

Whales were attracted to Alaskan waters this season, it is believed, by large schools of small fish, squids and halibut. Years when these species are abundant, whales are numerous. Sperm whales arrived in large numbers.

It is now thought the feeding grounds for sperm and finback whales lies off the coast of Africa, and by the end of October practically all of the Alaskan leviathans will have started for winter haunts.

The whale oil from the season's catch has been marketed in the East with soap makers, steel and leather manufacturers.

A shipment of 300 salted whale tails were brought down destined for Japanese markets where this section of the mammal is as popular as turkey in America.

store manager engaged the youth in conversation until the merchant, accompanied by Patrolman James Haley, reached the place.

Blazier, Chambers said, at first denied having stolen the check from the store but upon reaching the city hall made a complete confession.

In the three robberies, entrance to the Chambers and Wilson store was made by prying loose a shutter which covered a window leading into a stock room in the rear of the establishment. Several weeks ago a large quantity of hams, bacon and other merchandise was stolen, but nothing except the blank checks, bearing the name of the grocery firm, were taken in the second and third arrests. Chambers was not aware of the theft of the blank checks until the boy's arrest.

The combination was battered from the safe in the robbery last Tuesday night.

Faces Probate Court.

Chambers said he had suspected the lad, but had no evidence to support his belief.

Mayor Charles Brown last night turned young Blazier over to Probation Officer John McShane, who took him to Lisbon today, where he was arraigned before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle.

Probation officials assert that the youth was made a ward of the court several months ago. He is said to have been a former inmate of the boy's industrial school at Lancaster.

He is a son of Mrs. Lulu Blazier.

Bandits Blow Safe; Escape in Motorboat With $15,000 Loot

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Six bandits blew open a safe early today in the office of the Gulf Refining company at Gardner and Maspeth avenues, Brooklyn, and escaped in a motorboat with $15,000 after binding and gagging the watchman, John King. Police began a search for them in launches.

The bandit's craft turned down Newtown creek into the East river police said.

Men working on oil barges nearby discovered the watchman and gave the alarm.

This is the first time in the annals of the New York police that a motorboat has been used in a safe robbery.

The proposed rerouting of the River road bus along Virginia avenue and Pennsylvania avenue making the loop over Mulberry street was also brought up by Councilman Kerr. The bus is now being routed along First avenue to make the loop but a new territory would be opened if St. George street were followed to Virginia avenue, thence north on Virginia to Pennsylvania avenue, thence along Pennsylvania avenue to Mulberry street. A committee will take this matter up with the traction officials at an early date.

Practice of the Kaiser bakery in blocking the sidewalk in front of its place of business while trucks are being loaded was also called to council's attention by a committee of East End residents. It was stated that pedestrians are frequently compelled to leave the sidewalk and walk in the street around the trucks. Several near traffic accidents, it is alleged, have occurred as a result of this practice. Council promised an investigation would be made.

The Republican state central committee will not endorse any person for Republican national committeeman or committeewoman from Ohio until requested to do so by the national committee, it was announced today.

This decision was reached at a meeting here late Friday of 15 of the 22 members of the state committee. It was pointed out that the national committee alone has power to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mrs. John Gordon Battelle, Columbus, who was a member of the G. O. P. national committee. It was stated that the national committee may not meet inside 12 months.

Before adjourning to meet again next January, the committee men accepted the resignation of Walter Rogers, Newark, as executive secretary, effective November 30. His successor was not chosen.

DRUSE REBELS PLAN TO SEIZE DAMASCUS CITY

FRENCH RETREAT

Two Hundred Villagers Killed in Battle With Bandits.

HAIFA, Nov. 14.—Djebel Druse tribesmen plan an attempt to capture Damascus tomorrow, according to reports received here from Beirut.

Rasheya Hazba and other villages between Damascus and Sidon have already been occupied by the rebels, it is reported. The French troops in these towns were outnumbered and reterated.

A French destroyer has been ordered to Sidon.

BEIRUT, Nov. 14.—Nearly two hundred persons were killed in a battle between bandits and villagers in the town of Kawaba, near Asabaya.

Bandits attacked the town and killed 40 villagers, maltreating old men and women and children. The villagers gave battle until their ammunition was exhausted, and declared that they killed at least 150 of the bandits.

Rebels are reported to have made an unsuccessful attempt to capture Duma, near Damascus, and have done considerable damage in the region of Hasbeya, and some reports state that the Druses control the town.

The battle of Kawkaba is said to have resulted because the rebels charged that some of the villagers were aiding the French. Refugees declare that the rebels burned some of the houses in the town before retiring.

Lively fighting was reported at Mansura where the Druses attacked the town.

CAVE MAN WASN'T SO BRAVE, SAYS BESSIE LOVE, FILM STAR

Don't fret because the human race is growing smaller in stature, folks. Take the word of First National's diminutive screen star, Bessie Love, that it's all for the best.

Miss Love has one of the most inquiring intellects in films and she has just completed a study of evolution from the Neanderthal era to the present. Her conclusion is that the smaller we get in body the bigger we grow in "spine."

"Evolution clearly shows that, as stature decreases courage increases," says Bessie. "We often see pictures of the burly cave man hurling huge rocks, but the artist, to be correct, should show the cave man cravenly taking to his heels if he misses.

"Take animals, for further example. Prehistoric dinosaurs were monsters, and the largest of these was the Brontosaurus. But it was the most timid and cowardly of all the monsters."

Miss Love's interest in this phase of science was occasioned by her work in the First National-Watterson R. Rothacker super-feature, "The Lost World," which deals with an expedition into the untracked Amazon region where the explorers find hundreds of great reptilian creatures of the Jurassic Age.

CRIMINAL COURT OPENS MONDAY

Judge Harold Brennan Will Preside at Session.

Judge J. Harold Brennan of Wheeling will preside at the opening term of the November criminal court which opens Monday morning at New Cumberland. A large number of cases are on the calendar.

During the week a number of sentences were handed out by Judge Brennan after those arraigned pleaded guilty to charges contained in the indictments.

Mike Popff, charged with possession of liquor, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100. Mike Pacle was given 60 days and fined $100 on a similar charge. Thomas Presh, indicted on a robbery charge, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

James Shooshan and Rodney Johnson, indicted for being implicated in the robbery of the H. Fineman store in Chester, were sentenced to one year. Charles Beaver, involved in the same case, was discharged. He testified for the state. Arch Manypenny was given six months in jail and fined $50 for having a revolver in his possession.

The grand jury recommended that the auto license of Arch Ingram of Chester be revoked as a result of an accident in which Ingram ran down and killed a lad. The action was taken because Ingram failed to stop his machine after the accident.

GAS COMPANIES WIN SUIT POINT

Attorneys representing both the state and the gas companies, at a conference at Charleston, reached an agreement, which will be incorporated in Judge Morgan Owen's order denying a temporary injunction, whereby it is understood that the state will impose no penalties upon the companies for failure to pay their gross sales tax, pending a final hearing of the suit to have the law declared unconstitutional.

The agreement means that the companies will not have five percent added to their taxes for failure to pay on time, until after the case has been decided. The state, however, is understood to have reserved the right to proceed by legal means to collect the tax and the special counsel for the state tax commissioner are said to be considering the question of entering suits in another court to obtain judgments against the companies.

While the court's denial of a temporary injunction at first applied only to the Hope Natural, United Fuel and Reserve Gas companies, the three original litigants, it is understood that the order will apply to the nine other companies that field suits after the temporary order had been denied.

"Lucky George" Is Not Dazzled by Fortune

San Francisco, Cal.—George Campbell Carson, fifty-eight, former miner, lay on a cot in the University of California hospital here and tried to figure out just how he will spend millions of dollars—variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Convalescing from a minor illness, "Lucky George" has been informed of a decree of the United States Supreme court, which upheld his judgment of $20,000,000 damages against the American Smelting & Refining company for infringement of a patent.

"I'm not surprised," Carson said, but the light in his eyes told more truly the dawn of sudden realization that he, once known as a "desert rat," now ranks among the potentially wealthy.

"No," said Carson. "All I want to do now is to develop my interest in science. All my life I have been interested in science. Now I guess I ought to have enough resources to go into it and conduct original research work in physics.

"I've always wanted a little workshop and a laboratory. Now I'm going to have them. With that little laboratory—well—who knows what I may be able to do? Maybe something that will result in good to humanity.

"Worldly things? No. I'm not much interested. Of course I may do a little traveling—see a few things that I might not have seen otherwise, but most of all I want to put in my time in my laboratory and prove to myself and the world that the dreams I've had were real."

"IRON HORSE" BOOKED HERE

Fox's Great Photo Play Coming to Ceramic.

Now that the William Fox production, "The Iron Horse," is scheduled to start an engagement at the Ceramic theatre next week, many thousands of people are wondering how the picture obtained its name. To those acquainted with the ways of thinking of the American aboriginees, it is self-evident that the phrase, "The Iron Horse," is of Indian origin. As a matter of fact, during the vast amount of research done by the Fox scenario department, it was found that the originator of this phrase was Sitting Bull, the great war chief of the Sioux.

Sitting Bull was one of the most indomitable leaders of the red revolt against the invasion of the west by the white man. As a youth in the '50's and '60's, he sought to arouse his people to resist the invasion of their lands and the destruction of the game which was one of their chief means of sustenance. Together with Red Cloud and other war chiefs he led the Sioux in numerous attempts to stop the progress of the Central Pacific railroad. The chief evidence in this matter is to be found in the autobiography of Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). In this he quotes what was said to him personally by Sitting Bull as follows:

"The white man has taken most of our land. He has destroyed or given away the game that was our meat. In 1868 he arranged to build through the Indian's land a road on which ran Iron Horses that ate wood and breathed fire and smoke. The Iron Horse brought from the east men and women and children who took the land from the Indians and drove out the game."

This phrase fittingly described the Indian viewpoint of the strange new monster which had disrupted their lives. For many years this expression was little used, but since the tremendous success of the William Fox production, "The Iron Horse," that phrase has become part of the English language and it is now generally used not only by the masses, but also by poets, editors and writers of every kind and degree, in place of the less imaginative words, engine and locomotive.

Riga, where 20,000 were employed in the rubber industry before the war, has never regained her prestige in the rubber field, and today less than 1,000 are working in that industry.

Rising demand for American automobile tires in other countries sent the United States' rubber exports to more than $5,000,000 in a recent month, breaking all previous records.

Nearly 1,800,000 tons of bituminous coal were shipped from this to other countries last August, this being the heaviest exports since August, 1923.

The educational touches, in a vital way our entire citizenship, and, for that reason, commands our most earnest consideration.

According to the program outlined by Superintendent Ford, the week's activities will begin Monday, that day to be known as "Constitution Day." Then follows in order, "Patriotism Day," "School and Teacher Day," "Conservation and Thrift Day," "Know Your School Day," "For God and Country Day."

Russia Is Encouraging Appreciation for Art

Moscow.—While the horny-handed son of toil and talk is told that he is of the aristocracy of Soviet Russia, schools are bringing a new intelligentsia into the country.

Persons who cannot read and write are regarded as defective—a great change in a few years. The reception of the Russian art exhibit in the United States and Canada has pleased Russians. The government newspapers, in expressing their satisfaction, show requisite spirit by explaining that this is the new school of Russian art—proletarian and not bourgeois.

I. E. Grabar, who has returned from the United States, says that the exhibition of 600 articles has had such a great success that it will be continued through the winter in various cities in North America.

BRILLIANT HEATERS

A Brilliant Heater Will Soon Pay For Itself In the Gas That It Saves

The burner in the Brilliant is essentially different from any other on the market and can be adjusted to fit all local conditions of air, gas, pressure and quality of gas. In this way, it is possible to get entirely away from ill-smelling fumes and unhealthful, unburned gasses. It also means considerable saving in gas bills to have the right mixture of gas and air.

Since the day the first one-cylinder car ran under its own power, the best engineering brains on earth have been striving to improve the engine . . .

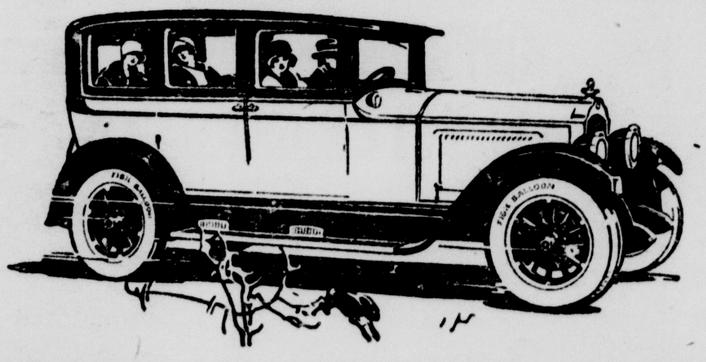

The one-cylinder car ran, and that was all. The two-cylinder car was noisy as a stone-crusher. Next came the "four-in-line." But, its ailments were many—Valve-grinding was a monthly rite. Carbon, a scourge. And every automotive engineer worthy of the name was determined to get rid of them . . .

FOLLOWED rapidly a myraid of improvements. Heretofore, all engines had been of the "T-head" variety. They ate gasoline and oil like a high-powered yacht and they wasted half of it . . .

THEN ALONG CAME one who moved both intake and exhaust valves to the same side of the cylinder. He cut off the overhanging eave—and presto!—the "L-head" motor. A tremendous gain in power. But owners still had to have their valves ground and their carbon periodically scraped away even as all, save "the elect," do nowadays . . .

ANOTHER TOOK the valves off the side, put them on the cylinder-top, and cut off the other overhanging gas-chamber. Hence "valve-in-head." But still valve-grinding. And carbon troubles. It crept under the valves. The faces became pitted. To maintain efficiency—carbon must be scraped as of old, and frequently . . .

FINALLY—the new school of thought in motor-design. Came an engine-idea which absolutely and completely revolutionized the automobile engine! . . . Charles Y. Knight produced and patented the sleeve-valve engine . . . "I'll go them all one better," said he. "At one fell swoop I'll scrap all those cams and push-rods, all those springs and rocker-arms—and by making a cylinder-head with but a single opening for the spark-plugs, I'll increase compression" . . .

RESULT:

. . . Multiplicity of valve-parts completly disappeared. Exit valve-grinding . . . No more pounding cams—noise cut to nothing . . . Absence of all spring pressure—added horsepower . . . And carbon troubles, the disease and eventual death of all other motors, were cured, once and for all. Carbon cannot harm the engine of a Willys-Knight. It is actually a helpful agent. Its serves to seal compression. Its only effect is to better this engine's functioning!

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to constantly tear down so fine a mechanism as a high-powered motor for the removal of a foreign substance and the grinding-away of its metal . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 65 to 118 more engine parts when 65 to 118 parts less can be made to serve the same purpose better . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 40 to 50 pieces of metal coming together in violent contact many times a second, causing distasteful noise, damaging vibration . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to depend on coiled springs to open and close a valve-mechanism 1100 times a minute. Those coils must weaken. That is inevitable, with every coil or recoil . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to carry valves requiring periodic and costly adjustment to the fraction of a hair—nor to depend upon small inadequate poppet-ports for intake and exhaust service . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to be obliged to lose the use of your car for hours and days, at the same time contributing easily one-half of the repairman's total yearly income as he grinds your valves and corrects your carbon complications . . .

In the patented sleeve-valve engine of the Willys-Knight are two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. . . Nothing to adjust. Nothing to replace or repair. . . Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a protective film of oil. For fine automobiles, the ultimate engine is the simplest engine. And the Knight sleeve-valve engine—the power-plant of your Willys-Knight—is the simplest of them all!

17-GAME SCHEDULE IS DRAFTED FOR CAMPAIGN

County Contests Come First With Half-dozen or More Crack State Teams Booked for Month of February; Three Open Dates Yet; No Decision Made on Coaching Arrangements.

A 17-GAME schedule, presenting East Liverpool high school passers with their county contests practically all in a bunch during the month of January and a series of battles during the month of February with a half dozen or more crack state opponents, is being lined up for the Blue and White basketball combine for the 1926 campaign.

According to announcement by Athletic Director O. V. Boone, no steps have been taken yet toward the appointment of a basketball coach, in the event that Boone himself decides to devote all his time to the grade school cage circuit which he promoted to a successful season last year.

The county schedule calls for games with Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem and Columbiana. No engagements have thus for been booked with Wellsville or Leetonia.

Warren, New Philadelphia, Dover, Steubenville, Bellaire and Akron Central—this is the outfit that the locals will be called upon to face in the closing month of the campaign and prior to the sectional and state tournaments.

From December 31, when the team will play its inaugural game of the schedule with the Alumni, until February 27, when the second tilt of a home and home series with Salem is played, there are only three open dates on the card, all of which will be filled before the season starts.

The schedule:—
Dec. 31.—Ex-Highs.
Jan. 8.—East Palestine.
Jan. 9.—Lisbon.
Jan. 15.—Salem.
Jan. 16.—At Bellaire.
Jan. 22.—Open.
Jan. 23.—At Lisbon.
Jan. 29.—At Columbiana.
Jan. 30.—Open.
Feb. 5.—Open.
Feb. 6.—Warren.
Feb. 12.—At New Philadelphia.
Feb. 13.—At Dover.
Feb. 19.—Steubenville.
Feb. 20.—Bellaire.
Feb. 26.—Akron Central.
Feb. 27.—At Salem.
March 5, 6.—Sectional tournament, probably at Muskingum.

Victory May Mean National Title For Dartmouth Squad

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—With a national title at stake for at least one of the contestants, the University of Chicago and Dartmouth University's football squads awoke this morning to a clear, brisk day of perfect football weather and keyed to top tension by the unusual prospect—for 1925—of playing a vital game without seaboots.

Not since international football began to assume its modern importance has the west waited for a game as they waited for the invasion of the big green team from the Hanover hills.

To the westerners a victory means a western prestige that goes beyond the confines of the "Big Ten."

For if Chicago upsets Dartmouth's title hopes, much that happened against Pennsylvania will be forgotten and forgiven.

Both teams were ready, tuned by Stagg and Hawley to their last ounce of speed and ability. No vital injuries touched either lineup. The field is in the best of condition and the play promises to be fast, a factor that many experts insist favors the men from New England.

Not in years has Chicago witnessed such football enthusiasm with a far stranger in her midst. Banquets, with the presidents of both universities presiding have featured pre-game celebrations. The "Loop" district is bright with the green nad white colors of Dartmout "Grads' from east and west and north and south, while the University of Chicago's midway, used to visitors en masse from "Big Ten" schools, is entertaining visitors en masse from New England.

A record crowd is expected to fill the stands with every ticket long since sold.

Stagg will start his regular lineup, with "Five Yards" McCarthy in the game some time during the afternoon. The star fullback is recovering from recent injuries. Hawley will take the field with the same team that faced Cornell.

Informal betting favored the easterners only slightly.

The lineup:

Chicago		Dartmouth
Lampe	L.E.	Tulley
Henderson	L.T.	Holleran
Hibben	L.G.	Diehl
Baker	C.	Davis
Wolff	R.G.	Rubin
Hobschied	R.T.	Parker
Yeisley	R.E.	Sage
Curley	Q.B.	McPhail
Kernwein	L.H.	Lane
Marks	R.H.	Oberlander
Francis	F.B.	Horton

Opposes Circus Seats

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Ban Johnston, president of the American league, is against installing circus style seats at world series games. He contends it is not fair to contestants or fans to have the playing field made shorter by additional seats which permit freak home runs.

Harvard End Stricken

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Jack Abie, Harvard football end, has been stricken with appendicitis. Coaches were relying upon him to get the fight back into the Harvard team in preparation for the game with Brown today and Yale next Saturday.

GRID SEASON NEARS CLIMAX

Big Games Carded Today Throughout Country.

By George Barry.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Upward of one million voices will lend encouragement and two million eyes will follow the ball this afternoon as intercollegiate football swings into the stern realities of the season in a series of big games from the Atlantic seaboard to the West coast. Yale and Princeton, defeated but by no means discountenanced, will decide the big three championship at New Haven before a crowd of 80,000. Almost as many will view the Washington-California contest at Berkeley, Calif., with the Coast title at stake.

In Chicago, the unbeaten Dartmouth team will attempt to wind up an eminently successful season by defeating the Chicago Maroon, one of the danger marks along the Western conference trail. The crowd at this game will be limited only by the rather meagre confines of the Chicago stadium.

Another capacity crowd will view the Syracuse-Colgate meeting at Archbold stadium, Syracuse. Traditional rivels of long standing, both teams will approach the game undefeated, lending additional interest to the encounter.

Alabama, also undefeated, will play Florida, and by all the laws of comparative scores, should win. Tulane, another contender for the southern title, has been coupled with Sewanee and should survive the issue.

Missouri, pace setters for the Valley conference, faces one of its hardest rivals in taking on Oklahoma. However, Missouri was expected to prevail.

So much for the unbeaten teams. Among the others, games of paramount importance ruled. The Big Ten conference championship, for example, was likely to be decided as a result of games between Michigan and Ohio State; Iowa and Minnesota and Northwestern and Purdue; at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, two of the East's ranking teams, were to have it out. At Atlanta, those archrivals, Georgia Tech and Georgia, were to meet.

The Penn State-West Virginia game at Morgantown, W. Va., also had a distinct bearing on the sectional championship as did the meeting between the Army and Columbia at the Polo grounds, New York. Another big game in the South called for Alabama Poly to face Vanderbilt.

Out on the West Coast, two other conference battles named Oregon Aggies and Oregon University and Southern California and Montana as rivals while in the Middle West, Detroit was to face W. & J., Carnegie Tech was coupled with Notre Dame.

At Providence, a discountenanced Harvard team was to make its first invasion of the town to play Brown. The latter was out to establish a record by beating the Crimson for the fourth straight year and the odds with the Brunionian eleven.

OBERLIN-MIAMI IN TITLE GAME

Wesleyan-Denison Resume Hostilities at Granville.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14. — While Ohio Wesleyan battles Denison at Granville today, Oberlin, joint holder of the leadership of the Ohio conference, clashes with Miami at Oxford. It is the final game of the season for the Congregationalists. Should either team lose an undisputed champion will probably emerge from the conference struggle.

Other conference games include: Baldwin-Wallace-Western Reserve, Cleveland; Case-Hiram, at Hiram; Ohio U.-Cincinnati, at Cincinnati; Ohio Northern-Muskingum, at New Concord; Otterbein-Heidelberg, Tiffin, and Wooster-Akron, at Akron.

WALKER-SARAZEN LEAD TOURNEY

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14.—Cyril Walker, former open champion, led a fast field of professional golfers at the beginning of the third round in the Princess Anne club open today with a card of 73-76—149. A stroke behind came Gene Sarazen with 150. Al Leach of Philadelphia and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids were tied for third and Leo Deigel was in fourth place with 153.

IMPERSONATING REFEREE, PLAYER MAKES TOUCHDOWN, BEATS RIVALS

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 14.—McChesney, injured captain of the Fairmont high school eleven impersonated the referee in Friday's game with Farmington and so dumbfounded the opposition that he had walked half the distance to the goal before the hoax was discovered. He ran the remainder of the distance for the only score of the game, Fairview, winning 6-0.

It was on the second play after the kick-off. Fairview received and all the while McChesney was in the lineup unnoticed in civilian clothes. On the second play McChesney sauntered over to his center andd emanded the ball. It was handed to him. The Farmington team thought he was an official about to penalize Fairview. McChesney started pacing in long strides toward his opponent's goal and after passing the safety man he ran the remainder of the distance and won the game.

The play was held legal because there were seven men on the line and four in the backfield. McChesney was the only man in motion before the ball was "snapped." The officials would allow no protest of the play, declaring it legal. Carl Ferguson, Fairview coach, invented the play.

W. V. U. REGULARS ARE CRIPPLED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Penn State, which held Notre Dame to a tie last week, came here today to help the West Virginia Mountaineers dedicate a new stadium.

The injury to four of their best players seriously handicapped the Mountaineers. Ed Morrison, quarterback; "Skeets" Farley and "Sleepy" Glenn, halfbacks, and Capt. "Red" Mahan, a guard, returned from the Boston college game on the casualty list. Furthermore, "Pete" Barnum, fullback, was injured practicing this week.

SEEKS REVENGE FOR 20-3 DEFEAT

CANTON, Nov. 14.—The professional grid classic of Ohio will be staged Sunday at Akron, where the Canton Bulldogs and Akron Pros will clash in the second half of the annual home and home series between the two clubs. It is a National Professional league engagement, and a victory for the Cantonians will place them above the 500 mark.

Akron won the initial encounter, 20-3, two of the touchdowns, however, coming in the last period when the Cantonians used forward passes at random in an effort to overcome the four point lead the up-staters had amassed in the third period when they completed a long forward pass.

Indications point to one of the stiffest battles of the season. The Bulldogs last week, in beating Cleveland 6-0, showed the best form of the season, and are anxious and eager to even up the count with the Rubber City elcven.

To Make Class Weight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, will be compelled to make the class poundage of 147 pounds at 2 o'clock for his battle against Sailer Freidman, Chicago challenger, in the Newark armory, November 25, under a new ruling of the New Jersey boxing commission, which stipulates that in future all ring champions appearing in New Jersey's no-decision bouts must make their class weights.

Reds-Bishops Battle

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Chief among this week's grid engagements in the Big Six is the renewal of the annual Denison-Ohio Wesleyan football game. The Methodists invade Granville today for the first gridiron game with the Baptists since 1922. It will be the 27th clash between the pair. The Bishops hold the edge to date, having won 15, lost nine and tied two.

Want Peck as Manager

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—The purchase of two National league baseball players, Elmer Smith, Cincinnati outfielder, and Johnny Couch, Philadelphia pitcher, has been announced by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. The club is also negotiating with the Washington Americans for the release of Roger Peckinpaugh, shortstop, who, if obtained, will act as manager.

Last Night's Fights

At New York—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., got the decision over Andy Tucker, New York, 10 rounds. Lew Perfetti, New York, got the decision over Tommy Milton, New Yory, 10 rounds. Vic Burrone, New York, got the decision over Bobby Wolgast, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.

Eight Schools Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Cross country runners from eight institutions will compete in the Middle Atlantic intercollegiate championship run over the Van Cortlandt park course this afternoon. Lafayette, Lehigh, New York university, Rutgers, Swarthmore, Union and Alfred university will be represented in the event.

Greb Decisions Marullo.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, today retains his title as middleweight champion, having received the decision over Young Marullo, of New Orleans, in a 15-round bout here last night.

OLD ELI IS FAVORITE IN CLASH WITH TIGER

Superior Record and Superior Line Tend to Give Bulldogs Edge; Yale Has Won 26 Games to Foe's 13, Nine Being Tied, and Has Kept Rival Away From Goal Line Since 1921.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Tradition, that unknown something which makes for glamor and ends enchantment to the commonplace, stalks the campus at New Haven today. It was a tradition almost as old and possibly as passe as the classic elms themselves but it made of the annual football game between Princeton and Yale an occasion such as the East knows but once or twice a year.

For upward of fifty two years, starting in the pre-victorian year of 1873, Yale and Princeton had been meeting on the gridiron and the act is still good. This year's number reckoned to be especially diverting, Yale being hailed as one of the finest teams extant while Princeton's stunning victory over Harvard stamped the Tiger with the hall mark of near-greatness.

As a matter of fact, considerable doubt existed as to whether the principals did not rate with the best in the land, in spite of the fact that Yale finishes second to Pennsylvania and Princeton lost to Colgate. It was a moot point as to whether either Pennsylvania or Colgate could repeat today. Many were pleased to doubt that either of them could.

For Yale, with successive decisions over Brown, the Army and Maryland at impressive scores, had amply redeemed that early season misstep against Pennsylvania, while Princeton looked slightly better than the best against Harvard, although the latter's weakness may have contributed to this impression.

Yale, of course, ruled the favorite and for two reasons. The first was its superior record, the second its superior line, one of the greatest in the country. Its recently Princeton record also indicated that it might hold a psychological edge over the Tiger. The latter has not crossed the Yale line since 1921, its lone victory that year being a 3 to 0 verdict by the famous team of destiny in 1922.

Yale, too, was away out in front on the grand total of victories for the series, having 26 decisions to 13 for Princeton, nine games ending in a tie.

However, this was another year and quite another Tiger team. It was an outfit that seemed to bear a striking resemblance to those 1922 semi-maniacs who knew not their own weakness. The present eleven has weak spots in its line but it also carries more punch than the 1922 team, Slager, Dignan and Prendergast being ball runners of more than average ability.

They figured to equal the activities of Kline, Bunnell and Cutler, of the Yale backfield, and to pass with greater deception and daring. In fact, Princeton was expected to take to the air at an early moment and keep right at it for the remainder of the afternoon.

It was the Tigers' only hope, in view of the generally acknowledged superiority of the Yale forwards.

Yale		Princeton
Gill	L.E.	Moeser
Joss	L.T.	Gates
Webster	L.G.	Davis
Burt	Center	McMillan
Sturdahn	R.G.	Crago
Benton	R.T.	Rosengarten
Potts	R.E.	Lea
Bunnell	Q.B.	Gaulkins
Cutler	L.H.	Slagle
Kline	R.H.	Dignan
Allen	F.B.	Gilligan

BIG TEN FOES ARE CONFIDENT

Both State and Michigan Expect to Win.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14.—Ohio State and Michigan, ancient rivals, clash here today, with both teams determined to win.

The Wolverines expect to run up a sensational score against the Buckeyes, but the Ohio lads have a powerful eleven that is expected to uncork some new plays. Ohio has lost to Iowa and tied Chicago.

However, backers of the Buckeye team point to Ohio State's 9 to 0 victory over Columbia as an indication of her real strength.

Michigan had its first upset of the season last Saturday at Chicago, when Northwestern surprised the entire football world by winning in the mud.

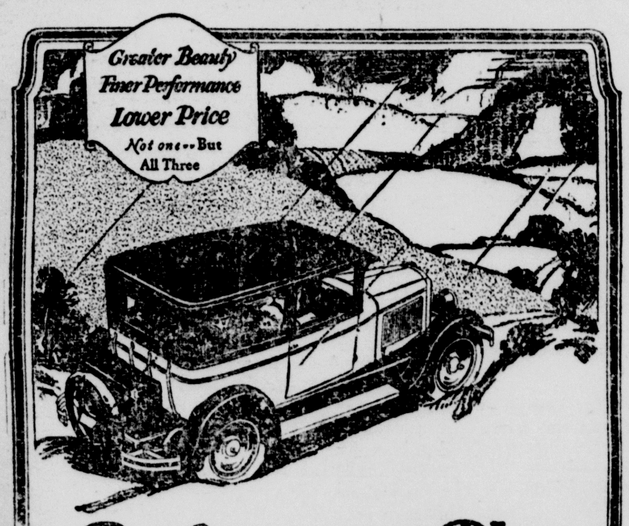

The lineup:

Oosterbaan	L.E.	Cunningham (C)
Edwards	L.T.	Nichols
Baer	L.G.	Young
Brown (C)	C.	Klein
Lovette	R.G.	Hess
Hawkins	R.T.	Mackey
Flora	R.E.	Rowan
Friedman	Q.B.	Karow
Gilbert	L.H.	Marek
Gregory	R.H.	Grim
Molenda	F.B.	Clark

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Syracuse, Franklin and Marshall and Boston university will replace Columbia, St. Louis university and Knox on the Army football schedule next year.

Another important change puts back the Notre Dame game to November 13, two weeks before the annual battle with the Navy.

TODAY

Another Trial Wanted.
Nervous, in Italy.
The King Shoots.
Atterbury's Optimism.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Mrs. Lansdowne, widow of Commander Lawnsdowne, killed on the Shenandoah by stupid incompetence, tells a story that will interest the president.

This woman, plunged in grief, knowing that her husband had been killed because his superiors disregarded his objection to their plans, was subjected to pressure of a most disgraceful kind.

Army and navy personages inclined to put officers on trial will find material in the officers that tried to bully an unfortunate woman and extort false testimony from her. A trial of those men would please the people of the United States considerably more than the trial of Col. Mitchell, who told the truth and served the public.

You read of "great nervous tension" in Italy, caused partly by strict newspaper censorship. It is not easy to govern a country, as Mussolini must govern, by sheer will power. At every hour of the day he is in danger of his life and knows it, but that is among the least of his worries.

Whatever history may say of him, it must admit that when he seized power, Italy had her choice between Mussolini and anarchy.

For the sake of the Italian people it is to be hoped that the United States will not exercise hard financial pressure for the Italian people. To do so might upset European conditions, with disastrous effects upon the whole world, including the good old U. S. A.

England, in spite of her unemployed, diminished trade, coal troubles, etc., goes along cheerfully. Good King George has gone to shoot with the Earl of Iveagh.

As they proceed through the estate, shooting as they go, traveling kitchen accompanies them. Servants carry their guns, load them, hand them up when the time comes to shoot.

Sometimes "six guns" in one day's shooting bring down as many as 1,000 pheasants and 500 patridges.

It is a most noble, glorious and inspiring sport, every bit as exciting as it would be to enter the Earl of Iveagh's chicken yard, shooting right and left.

In Britain it is called "sport." There is one advantage: it enables the traveling American to buy, all-cooked, for four shillings or less, a pheasant that has cost the Earl of Iveagh 20 shillings, merely for the pleasure of killing it.

In his talk to 175 business men at the Duquesne club in Pittsburgh, W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, talked, convincingly, the sort of optimism that the country needs.

BLAME CARBON MONOXIDE GAS FOR ILLNESS OF SIX CO-EDS

WARNING ISSUED

Nine Fatal Gassings so Far This Year in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Carbon monoxide gas was responsible for the sudden and mysterious illness of six Ohio State university co-eds last Wednesday following a party at which home made candy was served, the state health department announced today after a full investigation of the case.

It had previously been reported that the girls were suffering from ptomaine poisoning or "some mysterious ailment not determined."

Dr. N. C. Dysart, of the Columbus health board, and Drs. Emery R. Hayhurst and Daniel J. Kindel, of the state department of health, conducted the investigation and issued the official report of their findings.

Bellaire Girl is Victim.

"It is our conclusion that the illnesses described were due to acute carbon monoxide poisoning from a gas stove of the radiant type set in a fire place which did not have an effective chimney ventilation.

A likely contributing factor was the change in the weather from a fine, bright day to a murky, drizzling evening and a general lowering of the outside temperature,' the report read.

Those taken ill were Miss Anne McDermott, her sister, Helen, both of Stockport; Blanche I. Harris, Ravenna; Rhea Pettit, Logan; Mrs. Baldwin Dickinson, Columbus, and Esther Pinkay, Bellaire.

Dr. Monger's Warning.

In connection with the health department's investigation of the case, Dr. John E. Monger, director of the department, issued the following warning concerning the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning.

"We have had nine fatal cases of carbon monoxide poisonings so far this season.

"I desire to emphasize, as this instance illustrates, the greatest importance of being certain that all fire places in which gas stoves are burning are actually effectively vented to the exterior, and are not blocked up by obstructions of any kind. Be certain that any dampers in fire places are also opened. Be very careful of radiant types of gas stoves to see that they are always vented just like coal stoves or coal fires. The most common poison abroad in the land is carbon monoxide.'

The defense claimed that the girl killed herself on her own volition and not as a result of any act of the defendants.

Bride-elect Fears Friday, 13th; Her Wedding Postponed

Friday, the thirteenth, did not mean anything to Archibald R. Easterly, of Columbiana, a prospective bridegroom, when he applied for a marriage license at Lisbon yesterday afternoon, but the jinx day thought was in the mind of his bride-elect, Miss Sarah E. Sample.

"That's not all of it," said Easterly, when attention was directed to the calendar. "I was born on the thirteenth day of the month."

And adding to the worries of the bride-elect was the fact that it was exactly 3:13 p. m. when the marriage license was handed to the couple.

Then the bride-elect suggested that the wedding should be postponed until Saturday. It is to be performed by Rev. Mr. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in Columbiana.

An alleged attempt to pass a forged check, said to have been taken from the grocery store during the last robbery, proved the lad's undoing.

A check for $125, payable to "Cash," which bore the forged signature of Raymond Chambers, was presented at the Union Credit Clothing store, West Fifth street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in payment for an overcoat.

The check, the store owner, told Chambers, whom he called on the telephone, was presented by Blazier.

The noon lunch is one of the most important school problems. It is not easy to make food attractive and to keep it clean when it must be packed and carried in a lunch basket.

This Bureau has for distribution a booklet which contains various bills of fare for the basket lunch, suggestions as to the proper method of packing, and recipes for sandwiches, cookies, salads, and sweets.

This is a free government publication and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

COUNCIL WILL SEEK CARNEGIE PUBLIC LIBRARY AUDITORIUM AS COURTROOM FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Second floor of the Carnegie Libary will become headquarters for East Liverpool's new municipal court, to be established on January 1, if a plan outlined at a meeting of the city solons last night is approved by the library trustees.

According to Councilman N. P. Kerr, who made the suggestion, there is nothing in the library grant, which would prohibit the use of the building for court purposes. Permission would rest entirely with the library commission.

A committee of councilmen, James Larcombe, N. P. Kerr and Charles Hayes, will meet with the library trustees probably next Tuesday evening to formally request the use of the building for the court.

City Short of Funds.

The second floor of the library, it is argued, should afford ideal headquarters for the court. The main assembly room in the south-east corner of the building has seating accommodations for 200 persons, while adjoining rooms might be used for jury and other purposes.

Solon Kerr asserted that council is without funds to remodel the second floor of the city hall for a municipal court. He pointed out that the court during the first year might earn sufficient money to pay for these improvements if the library is available during that period.

Second Vote on Salary Slash

By a vote of 4 to 2, council passed on second reading the ordinance which reduces the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year, effective January 1, 1926. With the exception of Councilman Fred Eardley, who was absent from the meeting, the vote line-up was the same as on first reading. Farrall, Hayes, Kerr and Larcombe supported the proposal, while Councilman Chambers and Rowe opposed it. There was no discussion of the ordinance.

A committee of East End women appeared in behalf of a petition containing 102 signatures, urging construction of a flight of steps down Sylvian alley from Erie street. It was pointed out that many workers at the Laughlin pottery use this route, and in the winter season, it is almost impossible to get up and down the alley because it is so steep. The petition was referred to Service Director Ellis with recommendations that the request be complied with.

Councilman Kerr of the street committee called attention to a broken sanitary sewer near the City hospital. Engineer George explained that the trouble was due to the fact that the sewer was clogged where it emptied into the river and that a dredge boat would be necessary to open it. The engineer also said that the opening in the culvert across Virginia avenue, near the Second Presbyterian church, would be repaired within the next two weeks.

Complaints Are Heard.

Farrall complained about a depression in the street paving near the Clifford Bough residence, College and Fifth street, and the location of the fire hydrant near the Dr. O. D. Shay residence. Council instructed the service director to have the street commissioner raise the bricks in the street paving at the point complained of and to paint the fire plug.

TODAY

Another Trial Wanted.
Nervous, in Italy.
The King Shoots.
Atterbury's Optimism.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Mrs. Lansdowne, widow of Commander Lawnsdowne, killed on the Shenandoah by stupid incompetence, tells a story that will interest the president.

This woman, plunged in grief, knowing that her husband had been killed because his superiors disregarded his objection to their plans, was subjected to pressure of a most disgraceful kind.

Army and navy personages inclined to put officers on trial will find material in the officers that tried to bully an unfortunate woman and extort false testimony from her. A trial of those men would please the people of the United States considerably more than the trial of Col. Mitchell, who told the truth and served the public.

You read of "great nervous tension" in Italy, caused partly by strict newspaper censorship. It is not easy to govern a country, as Mussolini must govern, by sheer will power. At every hour of the day he is in danger of his life and knows it, but that is among the least of his worries.

Whatever history may say of him, it must admit that when he seized power, Italy had her choice between Mussolini and anarchy.

For the sake of the Italian people it is to be hoped that the United States will not exercise hard financial pressure on the Italian people. To do so might upset European conditions, with disastrous effects upon the whole world, including the good old U. S. A.

England, in spite of her unemployed, diminished trade, coal troubles, etc., goes along cheerfully. Good King George has gone to shoot with the Earl of Iveagh.

As they proceed through the estate, shooting as they go, traveling kitchen accompanies them. Servants carry their guns, load them, hand them up when the time comes to shoot.

Sometimes "six guns" in one day's shooting bring down as many as 1,000 pheasants and 500 patridges.

It is a most noble, glorious and inspiring sport, every bit as exciting as it would be to enter the Earl of Iveagh's chicken yard, shooting right and left.

In Britain it is called "sport." There is one advantage; it enables the traveling American to buy, all-cooked, for four shillings or less, a pheasant that has cost the Earl of Iveagh 20 shillings, merely for the pleasure of killing it.

Promises to Apply Coolidge Principles to State Government if Elected in 1926.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Secretary of State Thad H. Brown today formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor in 1926.

"I have been a constant admirer of President Calvin Coolidge and of his policy of administering the affairs of the nation in a business-like manner at a minimum of public expense," said Brown. "It will be my desire, if elected to the office of governor, to apply the same principles to state government which have proved so effective in the conduct of the nation's business."

Brown stated it is his purpose to conduct "a vigorous and aggressive campaign," and to make personal visits to each of the 88 counties of Ohio. "I shall keep my campaign clean, avoid all references to personalities and base my appeal upon my record of service as secretary of state," Brown promised.

State Committee Meets

His hat is the second tossed in the ring. Mrs. Evalyn Frances Snow of Mt. Vernon, former state motion picture censor, yesterday announced her candidacy. She is the first woman to seek the gubernatorial nomination in Ohio.

Arrest Robbery Suspects

Lisbon officials have taken two youths into custody, who are suspected of being implicated in three county seat town robberies. Names of the suspects will not be made public until the investigation has been completed.

The burglaries occurred at the Adams Carriage shop, Washington street and South Beaver, where a few pennies were secured; the C. E. Burnett garage, Jefferson street, where four automobiles and a jack were stolen and the Wilson shoe store where about $20 was taken from the cash register, after entrance had been made through a back window.

Bride-elect Fears Friday, 13th; Her Wedding Postponed

Friday, the thirteenth, did not mean anything to Archibald R. Easterly, of Columbiana, a prospective bridegroom, when he applied for a marriage license at Lisbon yesterday afternoon, but the jinx day thought was in the mind of his bride-elect, Miss Sarah E. Sample.

"That's not all of it," said Easterly, when attention was directed to the calendar. "I was born on the thirteenth day of the month."

And adding to the worries of the bride-elect was the fact that it was exactly 3:13 p. m. when the marriage license was handed to the couple.

Then the bride-elect suggested that the wedding should be postponed until Saturday. It is to be performed by Rev. Mr. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in Columbiana.

HUGH BLAZIER ARRESTED WHEN HE ATTEMPTS TO CASH CHECK

Admits Breaking Into Chambers-Wilson Grocery Store.

SUSPECT QUIZZED

Prisoner Names Alleged Confederate in One Burglary.

Hugh Blazier, 17, Central avenue, East End, is in custody of Columbiana county probate court officials today, facing a reform school sentence, as a result, police say, of a confession last night that he robbed the Chambers and Wilson grocery store, Pennsylvania avenue, several weeks ago, and also broke into the business house twice during the last week.

Police are looking for Blazier's alleged confederate in the first job. His name was revealed by the prisoner.

Bogus Check Lad's Undoing

Blazier, police say, entered the Chambers & Wilson store a week ago last Thursday night, Nov. 5, and again on Tuesday night, Nov. 10, when unsuccessful attempts were made to open the safe.

An alleged attempt to pass a forged check, said to have been taken from the grocery store during the last robbery, proved the lad's undoing.

A check for $125, payable to "Cash," which bore the forged signature of Raymond Chambers, was presented at the Union Credit Clothing store, West Fifth street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in payment for an overcoat.

The check, the store owner, told Chambers, whom he called on the telephone, was presented by Blazier.

Prof. Altdoeffer, Former County Man, Automobile Victim

C. M. L. Altdoeffer, 65, Youngstown school principal, who was killed in a traffic accident while enroute to school Thursday morning is a former resident of Columbiana county. He was born and reared in the vicinity of Clarkson.

He was fatally injured when his automobile collied with a machine driven by Victor Olson, Youngstown contractor, at the corner of Southern and Midlothian boulevards. He was buried beneath the wreckage of his car and died enroute to the hospital.

Altdoeffer had been identified with the schools at Youngstown for almost 30 years. He was serving as principal of the Garfield school at the time of his death.

He was a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Altdoeffer, who died at her home in Clarkson in 1914. Mrs. Margaret Moore of Grant street, this city, and Mrs. Dora Warrick, of Clarkson, are sisters. brother, Prof. L. B. Altdoeffer, resides at Cleveland.

COUNCIL WILL SEEK CARNEGIE PUBLIC LIBRARY AUDITORIUM AS COURTROOM FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Second floor of the Carnegie Libary will become headquarters for East Liverpool's new municipal court, to be established on January 1, if a plan outlined at a meeting of the city solons last night is approved by the library trustees.

According to Councilman N. P. Kerr, who made the suggestion, there is nothing in the library grant, which would prohibit the use of the building for court purposes. Permission would rest entirely with the library commission.

A committee of councilmen, James Larcombe, N. P. Kerr and Charles Hayes, will meet with the library trustees probably next Tuesday evening to formally request the use of the building for the court.

City Short of Funds.

The second floor of the library, it is argued, should afford ideal headquarters for the court. The main assembly room in the south-east corner of the building has seating accommodations for 200 persons, while adjoining rooms might be used for jury and other purposes.

Solon Kerr asserted that council is without funds to remodel the second floor of the city hall for a municipal court. He pointed out that the court during the first year might earn sufficient money to pay for these improvements if the library is available during that period.

Second Vote on Salary Slash

By a vote of 4 to 2, council passed on second reading the ordinance which reduces the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year, effective January 1, 1926. With the exception of Councilman Fred Eardley, who was absent from the meeting, the vote line-up was the same as on first reading. Farrall, Hayes, Kerr and Larcombe supported the proposal, while Councilman Chambers and Rowe opposed it. There was no discussion of the ordinance.

A committee of East End women appeared in behalf of a petition containing 102 signatures, urging construction of a flight of steps down Sylvian alley from Erie street. It was pointed out that many workers at the Laughlin pottery use this route, and in the winter season, it is almost impossible to get up and down the alley because it is so steep. The petition was referred to Service Director Ellis with recommendations that the request be complied with.

Councilman Kerr of the street committee called attention to a broken sanitary sewer near the City hospital. Engineer George explained that the trouble was due to the fact that the sewer was clogged where it emptied into the river and that a dredge boat would be necessary to open it. The engineer also said that the opening in the culvert across Virginia avenue, near the Second Presbyterian church, would be repaired within the next two weeks.

Complaints Are Heard.

Farrall complained about a depression in the street paving near the Clifford Bough residence, College and Fifth street, and the location of the fire hydrant near the Dr. O. D. Shay residence. Council instructed the service director to have the street commissioner raise the bricks in the street paving at the point complained of and to paint the fire plug.

Are You Satisfied?

When that farm is paid for, when the business is well established, when the children are all raised, when the thing to which you now give your heart is done, will you be satisfied?

Have you not promised yourself that some day you would start to Church? Or are you among those who criticize the church without knowledge?

The Church makes no defence of its life or purpose. It asks men to relate their lives to God, to quit sinning and to live right.

An hour of worship is healing to the heart, life to the soul and preparation for life.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Doe Norris

CHAPTER 95.

J. Reginald Ainsley, whose sophistication was rarely scratched, was inclined to be amused at his daughter's vivid and excited description of the tempestuous scene in Vera Vaine's apartment, but he presented an unrevealing visage as he listened to her with an attentive silence which he punctuated effectually by tightening his grip on her arm whenever her indignation threatened to make her breathless.

"She's a desperate woman," Amoura exclaimed for the second time, in concluding.

Her father patted her reassuringly. "Oh, I don't think so. Let me handle the matter. Get hold of Philip and keep him away from her."

"I don't think THAT will be necessary?" she said stonily.

"Well, you make him take you to dinner tonight, and then to a show—any show except the one she is in. And tomorrow we'll be able to go home with all this settled."

"Father, what are you going to do?"

"Never mind. Just don't worry."

In the intermission of the performance that evening of "Ha! Ha! Harry" the call-boy brought a box to the dressing room of Vera Vaine.

The actress dropped the rouge and grabbed the box, in which a single orchid nestled. Lying across the flower was one-half of a bill of the denomination mentioned by the maid.

"For Pete's sake!" Vera Vaine exclaimed. She dug down into the box and brought out a card: Sup with me. Reggy."

"REGGY! Say, are you sure this was addressed to me?" A horrible doubt seized Vera Vaine.

"Here's de label—Mis' Vera Vaine."

The call boy burst in. "Ready, Miss Vaine." Her heart thumping, Vera hurriedly daubed her cheeks, gave her costume a shake, and followed him out. Reggy! Reggy! Thousand dollar bills torn half in two. For Pete's sake! Her heart was not in the song she was singing as the curtain rose again. Her eyes were searching the audience for the glance of a man which would identify him as Reggy. She overlooked an amused pair of eyes that regarded her from the sixth row, on the aisle.

The wet, slimy alley back of the Jolly theatre at 11:45 in the evening. Vera Vaine showed herself in the dim light blinking over the portal marked "Stage Entrance," and regarded the line of three taxis, one coupe and one limousine. A sedate looking elderly man, whose silk hat shone like a beacon of wealth, smiled at her, and held half a bill so that it could be seen by the dimmed headlights of the limousine. The actress tripped softly toward him.

Ten minutes after midnight at Club Moscow, in East 57th street, Vera Vaine studied the elderly man opposite her.

"So your name is Reggy," she laughed. "Well, you ought not be allowed thousand dollar bills, if that's the way you treat 'em all the time."

He shrugged and threw over the other half of the bill.

"I have exactly two dozen more of these in my pocket, and they're all for you."

Her heart was beating fast; she stared at him.

"Oh, it's easy money," reassuringly.

"What's your game?"

"Simply this, little girl: I want those letters written to you by one Philip Weinrich."

"Oh ho!" Her eyes lightened. "So that's it! Well,not so fast."

J. Reginald Ainsley drew a pad of bills of the denomination of one thousand dollars from his pocket and laid them on the table before him. "Before you say anything else, listen to me. . . . I happen to know who pays the rent on your apartment."

The actress colored.

"I think you'd better take these." He indicated the bills. "You wouldn't get a cent if you took it to court, but I don't want that young fool's name in the papers, so I am making this donation. He doesn't want to give you a cent, and wouldn't. So you just sit down and write him a letter, and tell him you're sorry, and enclose that bunch of idiotic letters you have. Then these will be yours."

For a moment she studied him, then nodded her head.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 95.

J. Reginald Ainsley, whose sophistication was rarely scratched, was inclined to be amused at his daughter's vivid and excited description of the tempestuous scene in Vera Vaine's apartment, but he presented an unrevealing visage as he listened to her with an attentive silence which he punctuated effectually by tightening his grip on her arm whenever her indignation threatened to make her breathless.

"She's a desperate woman," Amoura exclaimed for the second time, in concluding.

Her father patted her reassuringly. "Oh, I don't think so. Let me handle the matter. Get hold of Philip and keep him away from her."

"I don't think THAT will be necessary?" she said stonily.

"Well, you make him take you to dinner tonight, and then to a show—any show except the one she is in. And tomorrow we'll be able to go home with all this settled."

"Father, what are you going to do?"

"Never mind. Just don't worry."

In the intermission of the performance that evening of "Ha! Ha! Harry" the call-boy brought a box to the dressing room of Vera Vaine.

The actress dropped the rouge and grabbed the box, in which a single orchid nestled. Lying across the flower was one-half of a bill of the denomination mentioned by the maid.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1925.

The Toll of Carelessness

School children were among the three or four score automobile accident victims in Ohio and West Virginia last week.

A nine-year-old girl, run down on St. Clair avenue yesterday, when, according to the police report, she darted from behind one car and directly in the path of another machine, was the second East Liverpool district casualty. She is in the City hospital, recovering from a scalp laceration.

A 13-year-old Chester boy, struck as he attempted to cross the street on his way to school, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries that may prove fatal.

Two children were killed and 35 injured when a truck, bearing youthful rooters to a high school soccer football game, sped down a dangerous hill to a curve and then plunged down a 30-foot embankment, splintering itself against a concrete abutment.

In a dozen other cities, boys and girls were among those killed or injured in traffic crashes.

And most of these accidents bear out the facts learned by the Cleveland Automobile club in a study of the traffic problem. This showed that in 1924 58 per cent of adults injured were injured through their own negligence; of the children injured 68 per cent were injured through their own negligence. In only 39 per cent of the accidents were the drivers held by the police to be responsible.

Let's adopt the two-fold safety first rule—Common sense driving by automobile operators and common sense walking at street intersections on the part of pedestrians.

France To Disarm

The American public takes new interest in Europe lately, as Europe does so many unexpected things. One of the latest and most incredible innovations is the French proposal to disarm.

It is said in Paris that if the present government remains in power, it will announce a reduction of armament "which will leave France as disarmed as Germany is," as soon as the treaty of Locarno is signed. That event is due on December 1.

The French, says the correspondent of a leading American newspaper, "wish to set an example at Geneva, and give the league of nations the credit." If they do, it may be a back-handed slap at America, intended to eliminate, in a grand gesture, any hope our country or government may have had for leading disarmament effort in the future as it has done in the past.

That is all right with us. Most Americans don't care much how Europe disarms, or who gets the credit, as long as it disarms.

Rusting Away

Rust, a steel man finds, consumes 4,000,000 tons of steel a year in this country. Its average value is perhaps $100 a ton. So rust costs us $400,000,000 a year, or $18 a family. It costs the average farmer's family more than that, because of the rural practice of leaving valuable machinery outdoors, unprotected, in all kinds of weather, and skimping paint and oil.

Eighteen dollars a year would buy a pretty fair outfit for the kitchen, or provide a bicycle for a boy or girl, or maintain a good outfit of tools for the man of the house to use about the place, thereby saving a lot of other waste.

Manufacturers can help prevent this waste by making more steel products non-rustable, by galvanizing and other processes. But the main responsibility rests upon the owner. Nine-tenths of all this expensive rusting is plain shiftlessness in the use of the most valuable metal in the world.

Beautiful And Bright

Sarcastic critics of our national beauty contests may have the wrong formula. "Beautiful" and "dumb" may not necessarily go together. They do not belong together at all, if Albert E. Wiggam, a eugenics lecturer, knows what he is talking about.

The good-looking women, says Mr. Wiggam, usually have more brains than the others. Brain development goes with general physical development. So the formula should be "beautiful and brainy," with an opposite formula, "homely and dumb."

This, surely, is more than the homely ones can bear. They have always consoled themselves for their lack of good looks by their assurance of good minds. If homeliness and dumbness are synonyms, what hope is left, except perhaps beauty of character? And character is not valued so highly as it used to be.

Any self-confessed homely girl, however, has a perfect right to question Mr. Wiggam's conclusions. Possibly he doesn't see straight. Possibly the pretty ones have fooled him. It's hard even for a scientific gentleman, when gazing at a beautiful face, to believe that there's nothing behind it.

Do your Christmas shopping now. The members of the British royal family have already selected the designs for their Christmas greeting cards, and it is time the rest of us got busy.

Many motor trucks, advertisers boast, have run 300,000 miles or more. Very likely. Most of the trucks on the street sound like it.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—You do not see them any more. When lights came on, they winged their way, like moths to the flame, scanning the crowds for a face responsive to the sheepish, beckoning wink. They had garish white faces and often suspicious coughs. Storm-tossed human ships that passed in the night.

The oldest and most tragic profession has been swept by reform from the boulevards and side streets. Daily hundreds of them were carted to the day and night courts where their souls were exposed, naked and pathetic, to the curious gaze of loungers and hangers-on.

Theirs was a world of flimsy pose and deceit. No matter how hard they tried they could not belie their telltale painted faces. O. Henry used to enjoy studying them and they furnished much material for his copy. The story is that he and a friend accosted two of them one evening.

They had eddied under a hotel canopy like human driftwood. The dining room blazed with light and there was music behind palms. O. Henry suggested they join them for dinner. They did. It was a dull, almost silent meal, and when they left his friend chided him.

Certainly such colorless women could not afford copy even for his facile pen. "But they did," he cried. "Nothing came of it but the glow that wrapped their faces when the soup came. That's a story and a big one." And thus it later became.

Vice squads drove women from the highways. They lived in constant terror of the law. And finally they faded away completely. Some were driven to other cities and to their credit many took up more honorable callings and became respectable.

The nymph du pave is rarely seen in court. In many ways prohibition halted their meanderings. There are no beer halls and saloon back rooms in which they may loiter. The change that whisked them off the street came so slowly and gradually that New York scarcely noticed it until they were gone.

Ada Lewis, beloved of the Broadway stage as a "rough and tough character" actress, passed on after almost a year of pathetic wandering about the Rialto with a clouded mind. It was of Miss Lewis, who was nameless, I wrote several months before her illness became known, and of her tragic visits nightly to the dressing room which she had once occupied. Nightly she rushed from dinner there, just as she had in other days. A kindly management humored her and furnished a maid. She would wait for her cue and then seem suddenly to realize she was living over the past and would return home. She was on the stage for 35 years without missing a part until her last illness. Even then she tried to carry on.

A restaurateur has kept tab on his customers and found they averaged 700 cups of coffee a year. He had one customer whose breakfast always consisted of four cups of black coffee and nothing else. He is not with us any more.

This same restaurant has a waiter with a perpetual smile. He could pose for one of those posters: "The Smile Wins!" Remembering to smile, he forgets other things. It may upset philosophy, but there are times when it might be written "the man worth a crown is the man with a frown."

In one of the biggest hotel dining rooms the other night at the dinner hour there were seven diners and 52 captains and waiters. That ought to start a few first-class frowns. A heavy rain had something to do with it.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Make Christmas a Holiday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—Postal employes are at last to be permitted an opportunity to enjoy their Christmas in the same manner in which their fellow citizens do. The postmaster general has just announced that there will be no mail deliveries on Christmas day, which means that for the first time these men will be able to spend the entire day with their families.

Previous to 1923 Christmas meant only extra work to postal employes instead of being a day of festivity. In that year, however, an edict went forth from the department that there would be no rural deliveries on Christmas day and in the cities mail would be delivered only until 12 o'clock, noon. This meant that the postman was able to eat his dinner with his family. This experiment proved successful and the following year no mail was delivered after eleven o'clock. And now Christmas is to be declared an all-day holiday and if it is found that this does not interfere materially with the service to the public, it will no doubt become a permanent institution.

In order that these faithful employees of Uncle Sam may enjoy the same privileges on Christmas as their brothers and sisters, it is necessary that the public cooperate. It may do this by meeting with the request of the department to mail early. For several years the postal authorities have been conducting campaigns for the early mailing of Christmas packages and have met with considerable success. Whereas a few years ago the peak business of the Christmas rush was on Christmas Eve or Christmas day, it is now about a week before Christmas.

The post office department has had the hearty cooperation of chambers of commerce, newspapers, motion picture theater operators, and other public agencies. This year the chambers of commerce in many cities have begun campaigns on their own initiative, and this has pleased the department. It shows that the public is in accord with the endeavor to clean up the Christmas rush of mail early enough for the postal employees to enjoy a holiday on that day. That the families of these men appreciate having them home was shown by a letter received by the postmaster general the first year that mail deliveries were stopped early. This was signed by all the children of a postman and expressed their pleasure at having their daddy with them for Christmas dinner for the first time. Imagine the added joy they will feel this year when they learn that he will be able to spend his entire day with them.

Send Greetings Early.

One of the points the department wishes to stress is the importance of mailing Christmas greeting cards early, as well as packages. It has been noticed that there is a tendency to mail these at the last minute, thus causing a congestion of these and in many cases resulting in their not being delivered until after Christmas. Also it is requested that these greeting cards be at least 2 3-4x4 inches in size, a size somewhat larger being preferable. Judging from the styles displayed this year by the stationers, the manufacturers of these cards are cooperating with the department in this matter. The department on its side is going to do everything possible to see that all greeting cards are given prompt attention. It was found that at some post offices where there were large numbers of Christmas and New Year's cards mailed, precedence was given to letters and parcels. All offices have now been requested by the department to provide special facilities for handling this class of mail.

The public is asked to cooperate with the department not only by mailing early but by complying with certain instructions such as: "Prepay postage fully on all mail matter. Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box number wherever possible. Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Insure valuable parcels." In order to encourage early mailing the department will permit parcels to be marked "Do not open until Christmas." It is, however, requested that Christmas seals and stickers not be placed on the address side of mail.

The campaign of the department will be carried on through the usual methods of posters in all post offices and other public places, and slides shown on motion picture screens. Incidentally this is considered one of the best means of publicity the department has, it being explained that people will read anything displayed on the screen for fear that they might miss something they really wanted to see. Notices will also appear in the daily press and there will be the customary improvised post offices on trucks which are used on the downtown streets of many large cities.

Clerks Instructed in Duties.

The department is not confining its campaign to the public. It is conducting one within itself—that is, it is issuing many instructions and offering many suggestions to local postmasters and their clerks. For instance as early as October postmasters were requested to begin the training and instruction of those persons who are to be employed for the rush. Clerks whose duty it is to issue money orders, and particularly international money orders, are urged to be especially careful to make these out legibly and correctly so that there may be no delay in their transmittal.

The postmaster at New York says that the seriousness of the problem of deciphering carelessly written money-order advices may be realized by the fact "that the clerks engaged on the exchange are even resorting to poetry in their endeavor to make the issuing clerks write legibly." In this connection a clerk in the Swedish bureau of the New York exchange office offers the following, "The Christmas rush is on again, With window clerks we plead in vain; 'Do cross your t's and dot your i's, A little care please exercise To copy everything completely And write the name and address neatly; You'd better ad, if doubt there be, A Form six thousand eighty three'."

From all this can be seen that the entire postal force is anxious to see that everyone is given the best possible service so that no one may be disappointed by not receiving all his mail from Santa Claus. When it is known that there are approximately two and a quarter billion pieces of mail handled during the Christmas rush it may be realized that the postal employees need all the cooperation they can get from the public in order that all of this may be promptly delivered.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1925.

The Toll of Carelessness

School children were among the three or four score automobile accident victims in Ohio and West Virginia last week.

A nine-year-old girl, run down on St. Clair avenue yesterday, when, according to the police report, she darted from behind one car and directly in the path of another machine, was the second East Liverpool district casualty. She is in the City hospital, recovering from a scalp laceration.

A 13-year-old Chester boy, struck as he attempted to cross the street on his way to school, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries that may prove fatal.

Two children were killed and 35 injured when a truck, bearing youthful rooters to a high school soccer football game, sped down a dangerous hill to a curve and then plunged down a 30-foot embankment, splintering itself against a concrete abutment.

In a dozen other cities, boys and girls were among those killed or injured in traffic crashes.

And most of these accidents bear out the facts learned by the Cleveland Automobile club in a study of the traffic problem. This showed that in 1924 58 per cent of adults injured were injured through their own negligence; of the children injured 68 per cent were injured through their own negligence. In only 39 per cent of the accidents were the drivers held by the police to be responsible.

France To Disarm

The American public takes new interest in Europe lately, as Europe does so many unexpected things. One of the latest and most incredible innovations is the French proposal to disarm.

It is said in Paris that if the present government remains in power, it will announce a reduction of armament "which will leave France as disarmed as Germany is," as soon as the treaty of Locarno is signed. That event is due on December 1.

The French, says the correspondent of a leading American newspaper, "wish to set an example at Geneva, and give the league of nations the credit." If they do, it may be a back-handed slap at America, intended to eliminate, in a grand gesture, any hope our country or government may have had for leading disarmament effort in the future as it has done in the past.

That is all right with us. Most Americans don't care much how Europe disarms, or who gets the credit, as long as it disarms.

Rusting Away

Rust, a steel man finds, consumes 4,000,000 tons of steel a year in this country. Its average value is perhaps $100 a ton. So rust costs us $400,000,000 a year, or $18 a family. It costs the average farmer's family more than that, because of the rural practice of leaving valuable machinery outdoors, unprotected, in all kinds of weather, and skimping paint and oil.

Eighteen dollars a year would buy a pretty fair outfit for the kitchen, or provide a bicycle for a boy or girl, or maintain a good outfit of tools for the man of the house to use about the place, thereby saving a lot of other waste.

Manufacturers can help prevent this waste by making more steel products non-rustable, by galvanizing and other processes. But the main responsibility rests upon the owner. Nine-tenths of all this expensive rusting is plain shiftlessness in the use of the most valuable metal in the world.

Beautiful And Bright

Sarcastic critics of our national beauty contests may have the wrong formula. "Beautiful" and "dumb" may not necessarily go together. They do not belong together at all, if Albert E. Wiggam, a eugenics lecturer, knows what he is talking about.

The good-looking women, says Mr. Wiggam, usually have more brains than the others. Brain development goes with general physical development. So the formula should be "beautiful and brainy," with an opposite formula, "homely and dumb."

This, surely, is more than the homely ones can bear. They have always consoled themselves for their lack of good looks by their assurance of good minds. If homeliness and dumbness are synonyms, what hope is left, except perhaps beauty of character? And character is not valued so highly as it used to be.

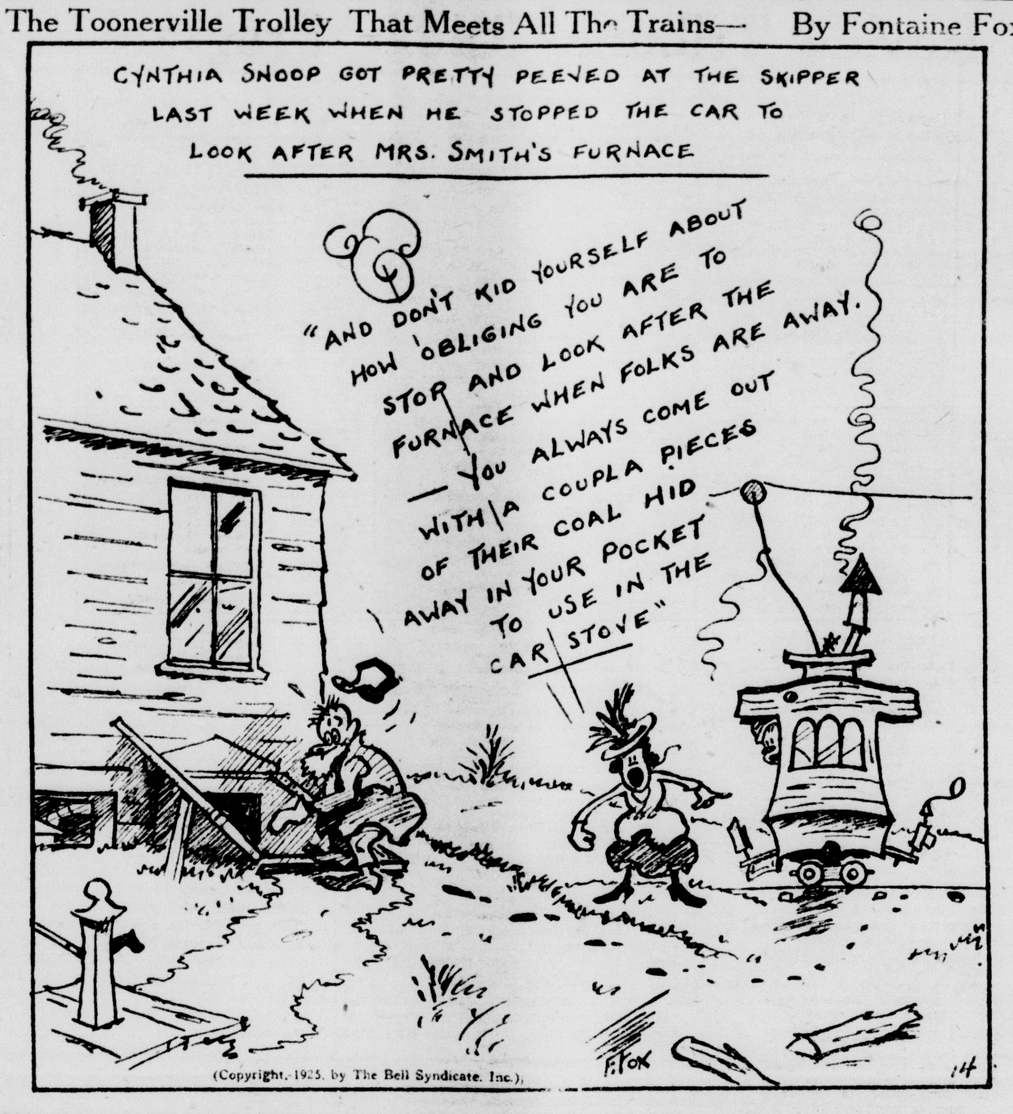

Any self-confessed homely girl, however, has a perfect right to question Mr. Wiggam's conclusions. Possibly he doesn't see straight. Possibly the pretty ones have fooled him. It's hard even for a scientific gentleman, when gazing at a beautiful face, to believe that there's nothing behind it.

Do your Christmas shopping now. The members of the British royal family have already selected the designs for their Christmas greeting cards, and it is time the rest of us got busy.

Many motor trucks, advertisers boast, have run 300,000 miles or more. Very likely. Most of the trucks on the street sound like it.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—You do not see them any more. When lights came on, they winged their way, like moths to the flame, scanning the crowds for a face responsive to the sheepish, beckoning wink. They had garish white faces and often suspicious coughs. Storm-tossed human ships that passed in the night.

The oldest and most tragic profession has been swept by reform from the boulevards and side streets. Daily hundreds of them were carted to the day and night courts where their souls were exposed, naked and pathetic, to the curious gaze of loungers and hangers-on.

Theirs was a world of flimsy pose and deceit. No matter how hard they tried they could not belie their telltale painted faces. O. Henry used to enjoy studying them and they furnished much material for his copy. The story is that he and a friend accosted two of them one evening.

They had eddied under a hotel canopy like human driftwood. The dining room blazed with light and there was music behind palms. O. Henry suggested they join them for dinner. They did. It was a dull, almost silent meal, and when they left his friend chided him.

Certainly such colorless women could not afford copy even for his facile pen. "But they did," he cried. "Nothing came of it but the glow that wrapped their faces when the soup came. That's a story and a big one." And thus it later became.

Vice squads drove women from the highways. They lived in constant terror of the law. And finally they faded away completely. Some were driven to other cities and to their credit many took up more honorable callings and became respectable.

The nymph du pave is rarely seen in court. In many ways prohibition halted their meanderings. There are no beer halls and saloon back rooms in which they may loiter. The change that whisked them off the street came so slowly and gradually that New York scarcely noticed it until they were gone.

Ada Lewis, beloved of the Broadway stage as a "rough and tough character" actress, passed on after almost a year of pathetic wandering about the Rialto with a clouded mind. It was of Miss Lewis, who was nameless, I wrote several months before her illness became known, and of her tragic visits nightly to the dressing room which she had once occupied. Nightly she rushed from dinner there, just as she had in other days. A kindly management humored her and furnished a maid. She would wait for her cue and then seem suddenly to realize she was living over the past and would return home. She was on the stage for 35 years without missing a part until her last illness. Even then she tried to carry on.

A restaurateur has kept tab on his customers and found they averaged 700 cups of coffee a year. He had one customer whose breakfast always consisted of four cups of black coffee and nothing else. He is not with us any more.

This same restaurant has a waiter with a perpetual smile. He could pose for one of those posters: "The Smile Wins!" Remembering to smile, he forgets other things. It may upset philosophy, but there are times when it might be written "the man worth a crown is the man with a frown."

In one of the biggest hotel dining rooms the other night at the dinner hour there were seven diners and 52 captains and waiters. That ought to start a few first-class frowns. A heavy rain had something to do with it.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Make Christmas a Holiday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—Postal employes are at last to be permitted an opportunity to enjoy their Christmas in the same manner in which their fellow citizens do. The postmaster general has just announced that there will be no mail deliveries on Christmas day, which means that for the first time these men will be able to spend the entire day with their families.

Previous to 1923 Christmas meant only extra work to postal employes instead of being a day of festivity. In that year, however, an edict went forth from the department that there would be no rural deliveries on Christmas day and in the cities mail would be delivered only until 12 o'clock, noon. This meant that the postman was able to eat his dinner with his family. This experiment proved successful and the following year no mail was delivered after eleven o'clock. And now Christmas is to be declared an all-day holiday and if it is found that this does not interfere materially with the service to the public, it will no doubt become a permanent institution.

In order that these faithful employees of Uncle Sam may enjoy the same privileges on Christmas as their brothers and sisters, it is necessary that the public cooperate. It may do this by meeting with the request of the department to mail early. For several years the postal authorities have been conducting campaigns for the early mailing of Christmas packages and have met with considerable success. Whereas a few years ago the peak business of the Christmas rush was on Christmas Eve or Christmas day, it is now about a week before Christmas.

The post office department has had the hearty cooperation of chambers of commerce, newspapers, motion picture theater operators, and other public agencies. This year the chambers of commerce in many cities have begun campaigns on their own initiative, and this has pleased the department. It shows that the public is in accord with the endeavor to clean up the Christmas rush of mail early enough for the postal employees to enjoy a holiday on that day. That the families of these men appreciate having them home was shown by a letter received by the postmaster general the first year that mail deliveries were stopped early. This was signed by all the children of a postman and expressed their pleasure at having their daddy with them for Christmas dinner for the first time. Imagine the added joy they will feel this year when they learn that he will be able to spend his entire day with them.

Send Greetings Early.

One of the points the department wishes to stress is the importance of mailing Christmas greeting cards early, as well as packages. It has been noticed that there is a tendency to mail these at the last minute, thus causing a congestion of these and in many cases resulting in their not being delivered until after Christmas. Also it is requested that these greeting cards be at least 2 3-4x4 inches in size, a size somewhat larger being preferable. Judging from the styles displayed this year by the stationers, the manufacturers of these cards are cooperating with the department in this matter. The department on its side is going to do everything possible to see that all greeting cards are given prompt attention. It was found that at some post offices where there were large numbers of Christmas and New Year's cards mailed, precedence was given to letters and parcels. All offices have now been requested by the department to provide special facilities for handling this class of mail.

The public is asked to cooperate with the department not only by mailing early but by complying with certain instructions such as: "Prepay postage fully on all mail matter. Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box number wherever possible. Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Insure valuable parcels." In order to encourage early mailing the department will permit parcels to be marked "Do not open until Christmas." It is, however, requested that Christmas seals and stickers not be placed on the address side of mail.

The campaign of the department will be carried on through the usual methods of posters in all post offices and other public places, and slides shown on motion picture screens. Incidentally this is considered one of the best means of publicity the department has, it being explained that people will read anything displayed on the screen for fear that they might miss something they really wanted to see. Notices will also appear in the daily press and there will be the customary improvised post offices on trucks which are used on the downtown streets of many large cities.

Clerks Instructed in Duties.

The department is not confining its campaign to the public. It is conducting one within itself—that is, it is issuing many instructions and offering many suggestions to local postmasters and their clerks. For instance as early as October postmasters were requested to begin the training and instruction of those persons who are to be employed for the rush. Clerks whose duty it is to issue money orders, and particularly international money orders, are urged to be especially careful to make these out legibly and correctly so that there may be no delay in their transmittal.

The postmaster at New York says that the seriousness of the problem of deciphering carelessly written money-order advices may be realized by the fact "that the clerks engaged on the exchange are even resorting to poetry in their endeavor to make the issuing clerks write legibly." In this connection a clerk in the Swedish bureau of the New York exchange office offers the following, "The Christmas rush is on again, With window clerks we plead in vain; 'Do cross your t's and dot your i's, A little care please exercise To copy everything complete And write the name and address neatly; You'd better ad, if doubt there be, A Form six thousand eighty three'."

From all this can be seen that the entire postal force is anxious to see that everyone is given the best possible service so that no one may be disappointed by not receiving all his mail from Santa Claus. When it is known that there are approximately two and a quarter billion pieces of mail handled during the Christmas rush it may be realized that the postal employees need all the cooperation they can get from the public in order that all of this may be promptly delivered.

DIVORCE LIST HEARD FRIDAY

Decrees Handed Down By Judge James G. Moore.

Brooks Piper has been granted a decree of divorce from his wife Elsie Piper. The case come up before Judge James G. Moore, and the decree entered in behalf of the plaintiff, who has also been granted the custody of minors.

In the divorce action filed by Donald Gibson against his wife Edna Gibsen, a decree has been granted the plaintiff on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The custody of children has been awarded the defendant, and the plaintiff has been ordered by the court to pay the defendant $22.50 on the first and 15th of each month for the support of the minors.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed in common pleas court by Zora Flecker against Benjamin Flecker, and when the case went before the court and after the examination of witnesses, the decree was granted the plaintiff. She was also restored to her maiden name, that of Zora Merriman.

Soon after they were married Belva Irene Barnette left her husband Norris C. Barnette, of East Liverpool, and he has heard nothing from her for many years, according to the testimony that was given before Judge James G. Moore. Barnette, who resides in East Liverpool had a number of witnesses to support his claim, and he was given a decree.

Because he has been absent for three years, Amelia Windisch has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, John Windisch.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Helen Neuwirth against R. F. Neuwirth. When the case went before the court the plaintiff was granted a decree on her pleadings, and she was restored to her maiden name, that of Helen Miller.

$45,000 DAMAGE SUIT INSTITUTED

A petition claiming $45,000 damages has been filed in common pleas court by Joe Markovick, of R. F. D. No. 1, Salem, against the Natural Gas company of West Virginia, as a result of a truck of the company striking and injuring the plaintiff while he was on the Salem-Damascus road the afternoon of August 27, last.

Markovick declares in his petition that he was about to enter the car of a friend when a machine owned by the defendant company and driven by D. B. McCune came along the road and ran into him, striking him and dragging him into a ditch, wherein he sustained permanent injuries.

While in good health, the petitioner claims that he was enabled to make $150 per month at his usual labor.

SEEK JUDGMENT IN COURT ACTION

In a petition filed in common pleas court by Kate Smith, of East Liverpool, against I. H. Aronson, of that city, it is related that after Aronson gave a check for $100 to an agent of the plaintiff to bind the sale of a piece of property, he stopped payment of the check at the First National bank of East Liverpool.

The plaintiff, it is alleged, placed certain property in the hands of an agent to sell. Aronson gave his check for $100 as a binder. The agent gave was presented at the bank and payment demanded, the bank announced that payment on the check had been stopped. Judgment for $100 and for costs against Aronson is asked by the plaintiff.

Divorce Action Filed.

Murilda C. Campbell, through her counsel, G. Y. Travis, of East Liverpool, has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Harry B. Campbell, whom she married at Carrollton November 22, 1913. The plaintiff declares that her husband has been guilty of three years' wilful absence, and for four years he has failed to provide for her.

Actions Settled.

Settlements have been announced in common pleas court in four actions recently filed on claims for money due the plaintiffs by the Grant Coal company. The claims were filed by Alexander J. Rose for $505.83; Floyd Rose, $375.18; Ernest J. McKenzie, $359.31, and James L. Griffith, $534.75.

State Road Engineer Pleased With Result Of Road Bond Issue

In a letter received by the county commissioners from H. S. Perry, assistant chief engineer of maintenance of the department of highways and public works, Columbus, Mr. Perry declares that the result of the recent approval of a bond issue for $950,000 road bonds in Columbiana was "a vote of confidence." Mr. Perry, who has presided at a number of road locating hearings in this county, said:

"I have long since passed the point of looking upon my work as a matter of routine, and have tried at all times to develop relations of a constructive nature as between the state and counties.

"I am very glad that what little might have been done to help your cause was appreciated; but I would assure you that the vote was far more one of confidence in local administration, and as such I wish to offer you my congratulations and that of the department with the assurance that the funds will be as well expended as the project was conceived, and in the hope that the state will be able to do its part in furthering the cause of good roads in Columbiana county.

Suit Is Filed.

G. R. Pattison, as president, and H. P. Baxter, as treasurer, with D. O. Webb and J. W. Manor, all of East Liverpool, endorsed a note for $2,275 given to the First National bank of East Liverpool by the Crafton Coal and Supply company, and eventually the obligation was discounted as agreed. However, S. Harvey Fisher, a non-resident of Ohio, failed to pay his share of the note amounting to $415, and as a result an action has been filed in common pleas court by the endorsers of the note against Fisher for his share.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Ray K. Crook, a farmer, residing on rural route No. 1, Leetonia, and Mabel R. Richardson, of Columbiana, formerly of Steubenville, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Richardson. They are to be married by the Rev. George Westlake.

James F. Ready, of Salem, but a former resident of Leetonia, and Lucy B. Rumbaugh, now residing in Salem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rumbaugh, and former residents of Wakeman, O. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Presbyterian church by the Rev. P. W. Macauley.

Salineville

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Fotheringham, eldest daughter of Mrs. Anna Fotheringham and Lloyd Heltzel, only son of Mrs. Laura Toban. The marriage ceremony was performed Monday in the Presbyterian church at Lisbon, by Rev. P. M. McCaulay.

Mrs. Robert Wilkie was tendered a birthday surprise party Tuesday evening, Nov. 10th in her home on School house hill, by a number of her friends and neighbors. The evening was spent in music and games followed by luncheon served by the guests. Mrs. Wilkie was the recipient of many gifts.

WOMEN—

About this time of year you will begin going through the family wardrobe, sorting out apparel for Fall and Winter—and of course—like every other family—will find garments that are "too good" to throw away—yet not presentable for wear.

We suggest having such garments dyed, for in most instances the fabrics will dye beautifully.

Decrees Handed Down By Judge James G. Moore.

Brooks Piper has been granted a decree of divorce from his wife Elsie Piper. The case come up before Judge James G. Moore, and the decree entered in behalf of the plaintiff, who has also been granted the custody of minors.

In the divorce action filed by Donald Gibson against his wife Edna Gibsen, a decree has been granted the plaintiff on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The custody of children has been awarded the defendant, and the plaintiff has been ordered by the court to pay the defendant $22.50 on the first and 15th of each month for the support of the minors.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed in common pleas court by Zora Flecker against Benjamin Flecker, and when the case went before the court and after the examination of witnesses, the decree was granted the plaintiff. She was also restored to her maiden name, that of Zora Merriman.

Soon after they were married Belva Irene Barnette left her husband Norris C. Barnette, of East Liverpool, and he has heard nothing from her for many years, according to the testimony that was given before Judge James G. Moore. Barnette, who resides in East Liverpool had a number of witnesses to support his claim, and he was given a decree.

Because he has been absent for three years, Amelia Windisch has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, John Windisch.

Extreme cruelty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Helen Neuwirth against R. F. Neuwirth. When the case went before the court the plaintiff was granted a decree on her pleadings, and she was restored to her maiden name, that of Helen Miller.

$45,000 DAMAGE SUIT INSTITUTED

A petition claiming $45,000 damages has been filed in common pleas court by Joe Markovick, of R. F. D. No. 1, Salem, against the Natural Gas company of West Virginia, as a result of a truck of the company striking and injuring the plaintiff while he was on the Salem-Damascus road the afternoon of August 27, last.

Markovick declares in his petition that he was about to enter the car of a friend when a machine owned by the defendant company and driven by D. B. McCune came along the road and ran into him, striking him and dragging him into a ditch, wherein he sustained permanent injuries.

While in good health, the petitioner claims that he was enabled to make $150 per month at his usual labor.

SEEK JUDGMENT IN COURT ACTION

In a petition filed in common pleas court by Kate Smith, of East Liverpool, against I. H. Aronson, of that city, it is related that after Aronson gave a check for $100 to an agent of the plaintiff to bind the sale of a piece of property, he stopped payment of the check at the First National bank of East Liverpool.

The plaintiff, it is alleged, placed certain property in the hands of an agent to sell. Aronson gave his check for $100 as a binder. The agent gave was presented at the bank and payment demanded, the bank announced that payment on the check had been stopped. Judgment for $100 and for costs against Aronson is asked by the plaintiff.

Divorce Action Filed.

Murilda C. Campbell, through her counsel, G. Y. Travis, of East Liverpool, has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Harry B. Campbell, whom she married at Carrollton November 12, 1913. The plaintiff declares that her husband has been guilty of three years' wilful absence, and for four years he has failed to provide for her.

Actions Settled.

Settlements have been announced in common pleas court in four actions recently filed on claims for money due the plaintiffs by the Grant Coal company. The claims were filed by Alexander J. Rose for $505.83; Floyd Rose, $375.18; Ernest J. McKenzie, $359.31, and James L. Griffith, $534.75.

State Road Engineer Pleased With Result Of Road Bond Issue

In a letter received by the county commissioners from H. S. Perry, assistant chief engineer of maintenance of the department of highways and public works, Columbus, Mr. Perry declares that the result of the recent approval of a bond issue for $950,000 road bonds in Columbiana was "a vote of confidence." Mr. Perry, who has presided at a number of road locating hearings in this county, said:

"I have long since passed the point of looking upon my work as a matter of routine, and have tried at all times to develop relations of a constructive nature as between the state and counties.

"I am very glad that what little might have been done to help your cause was appreciated; but I would assure you that the vote was far more one of confidence in local administration, and as such I wish to offer you my congratulations and that of the department with the assurance that the funds will be as well expended as the project was conceived, and in the hope that the state will be able to do its part in furthering the cause of good roads in Columbiana county.

Suit Is Filed.

G. R. Pattison, as president, and H. P. Baxter, as treasurer, with D. O. Webb and J. W. Manor, all of East Liverpool, endorsed a note for $2,275 given to the First National bank of East Liverpool by the Crafton Coal and Supply company, and eventually the obligation was discounted as agreed. However, S. WOMEN—

About this time of year you will begin going through the family wardrobe, sorting out apparel for Fall and Winter—and of course—like every other family—will find garments that are "too good" to throw away—yet not presentable for wear.

We suggest having such garments dyed, for in most instances the fabrics will dye beautifully.

Motion pictures for the most part are made for entertainment purposes. Once in a while a picture is made for scientific reasons but rarely is a feature made which combines both entertainment and scientific education.

An exception to the rule is "The Lost World," the First National-Watterson R. Rothacker production which will be shown at the American theatre, beginning Monday.

Love, romance, adventure as well as education are embodied in the amazing film. Professors of Columbia and the University of California who saw the picture in the making declare that the greatest thing that has ever occurred to bring about a popular interest in archaeology was the production of this remarkable film.

Heretofore paleontologists have had to depend upon reconstructed skeletons of the dinosarus for their studies. How they breathed, walked, ate, fought and slept was never actually seen. In many instances these important attributes were merely guesswork. In "The Lost World" they are amazingly and entertainingly revealed and added to this is a plausible and highly romantic story of adventure.

The cast of "The Lost World' is in keeping with the magnitude of the production, including such film luminaries as Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Alma Bennett, Virginia Brown Faire, Arthur Hoyt, Bull Montana, Margaret McWade, Finch Smiles and Jules Cowles.

"5000 Tanks Filled With Marathon in Three Months"

"We are giving away mileage. There, in a nutshell is the reason for the unprecedented popularity of MARATHON Gasoline.

"Motorists who drive and buy motor fuel with an eye on their speedometers have found out that a tank full of MARATHON will carry them just a little bit further and just a little bit better than ordinary gas. Yet it costs no more. That's why 5,000 friends have been won to Marathon in three months.

EAGLES TO AID CHILD PATIENT

Ask Help for Youngster Burned Three Weeks Ago.

Members of Columbiana aerie No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of Wellsville, will meet Sunday afternoon in their lodge rooms in Main street for the purpose of formulating plans to obtain funds to aid Ernest Cleckner, aged 8, who had been a patient in the East Liverpool City hospital for 13 weeks suffering from burns.

He was burned from the shoulders to the knees by gasoline in an accident over three months ago. It will be many weeks before he will be able to be moved, according to lodge representatives.

His mother is a widow. She works in a pottery. She has managed to meet expenses thus far, lodge officials point out, except a bill of $200 due the hospital. Medicine bills, it is said, average about $5 a week and the weekly room bill is $21.

The mother wants to take the child home to care for him but his condition is such yet that it is thought inadvisable.

The Eagles' lodge has taken up the case and will attempt to assist in meeting part, at least, or all, if possible, of the financial expense by obtaining contributions. Such gifts, the lodge announced, may be left at Hannum's pharmacy, Thirteenth and Main streets; The Union office, Eighth and Main, and Stewart's cigar store, Main street.

"LOST CHRIST" PASTOR'S TOPIC

Dr. L. H. Lawther gave a strong sermon on "The Lost Christ" at last night's revival services in the First Presbyterian church.

His discourse was based on the record of Christ in the temple when 12 years of age. He pictured vividly how Mary lost her boy and her anxiety regarding him, and told of modern mothers who lose their boys and girls. He appealed to parents to bring up their children from infancy in the church.

The revival meetings will continue through Sunday and all next week. Sunday morning Dr. Lawther will preach an illustrated sermon which will be especially interesting to children. The Sabbath school classes will attend in a body.

On Sunday evening an unusual musical program will be presented. In addition to the choir, a large children's chorus will sing. The sermon on Sunday evening will be particularly designed to attract the attention of young people and Sunday school members. The evening services will start at 7:15.

SPECIAL MEETS AT U. P. CHURCH

Sunday in the First United Presbyterian church will be a day of special services, according to announcement by Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor.

It will be known as a "Friendly Day," and each member of the Bible school, congregation, or young people's organizations is asked to take a friend to the day's services.

In the morning will be held the annual thank-offering service of the missionary organizations of the church. Miss Sallie Dickey, of India, will be the speaker.

In the evening at 7:30 the high school will hold a special service, to which the public is invited.

The service will be under the direction of the student council, and will consist of special musical numbers by the orchestra, vocal selections and an organ recital by Mr. Hoover.

Roller Skating at Rock Springs Rink Tonight.

Mrs. Abbott Hostess.

Mrs. Martin T. Abbott entertained a number of friends last evening at her home in Main street at a 6 o'clock bridge dinner.

Pink roses and yellow chrysanthemums were used in the decorations. Five tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. Charles Stevenson of Cleveland was an out-of-town guest.

WILL ROGERS COMING NOV. 23

Humorist Tells of Ride in Plane With Col. Mitchell.

Will Rogers, who will be heard at the Ceramic theater on November 23, has decided views about what he likes and doesn't like. He likes rough riding and roping, for instance, but as yet he is not so sure about polo. The following is his excuse for losing a game. "Tommy Hitchcock is the most wonderful player in the world. The only way I could keep from having him beat me was to play on his side.

We lost 13 to 14. The field was too level for me. I am accustomed to playing on rough fields where the ball bounces as all regular balls should bounce."

Rogers has a great respect for aviators, but doesn't want to be one. "There is an old legend," he said, in speaking of his trip in an aeroplane, "that says 'nine-tenths of the brave things done are performed through fear'—well they got me into one of those planes because I was afraid to refuse. Col. William Mitchell, of the air service, said to me: 'I will point out the places of interest to you.' Well, I didn't see him point, nor I didn't see what he pointed at. All I saw was the sky. Washington's home in Mount Vernon might have been Bryan's in Miami. We flew around the Washington monument, and if the thing had had handles on it Mitchell would have lost a passenger."

On the tour marked out for Rogers and the De Reszke Singers there will be no aeroplanes used. The management prefers to use railroads.

WALES IS WARNED "GOOD FELLOW" ROLE DOES NOT QUALIFY FOR THRONE

LONDON.—Veiled warnings to the Prince of Wales that he should not allow his head to be turned by "brainless popular applause," that he should cease "stooping to conquer' and that being a good fellow" is not enough to qualify him to succeed his father on the British throne, have been made by the Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard, rector of St. Martin's in the Fields church.

"The view that royalty exists mainly for popular entertainment, that it is an exhibition specimen standing up to perform turns' rather than functions, has taken hold of a large mass of the population," the vicar wrote in his parish magazine, St. Martin's Review.

"No one would say that the Prince's task is not a difficult one, nor is it possible to deny the charm and grace with which he attempts to fulfill his duties, but foolish and rather brainless applause is being directed against the young heir, and if it is not already having a damaging effect upon his natural goodness, the danger is certainly there.

"Wherever he goes he finds this popular demand for popularity awaiting him; he has not to say or do anything wise or perform anything difficult; it is rather the free-and-easy and unconventional things that thousands of open mouths are ready to acclaim.

"He finds that an enormous popularity can be achieved by one of royal blood who stoops to conquer, and when he does the applause is terrific.

"It is, no doubt, true in a sense that the Prince is sent out upon his for journeys to win the popular mind, but he must win it imaginatively to the service of an ideal of unity which if it can be worthily achieved will make great history. If that be the purpose, it is hindered rather than served by any descent from quiet dignity, even though at the moment popular applause can be won by it.

"There was a time when it was considered sufficient praise of those called upon to occupy prominent positions in the life of the nation to be able to say of them that they were 'good fellows,' but the time for an estimate of that nature is past.

"While welcoming the Prince back to his homeland and thanking him for what he has accomplished, we respectively point to the King and Queen as showing outstanding examples of the way in which the hearts of a great people are to be worthily held."

Find 800-Room Dwelling in Underground Ruins

Albuquerque, N. M.—Ruins of ancient Pueblo Bonito, N. M., which revealed to geologists a prehistoric underground settlement, are declared to be only the "upper story" of still another buried village.

Neill Judd, director of excavations of the National Geographic society, has announced that diggings disclose the second underground city covers at least three and a quarter acres.

Among the dwellings found in the pueblo, Judd said, was a building of 800 rooms, of which 500 were on one floor. Many of the underground dwellings stand four stories high, he said.

Nearly 30,000 are attending night institutes for women only in London.

'BIG BEER RING' IS EXPOSED BY MILLIONAIRE

SCANDAL LOOMS

Information Will be Laid Before Federal Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Abraham Levin, millionaire whisky certificate broker, has made a complete confession of the operations of the so-called $9,000,000 "beer ring" which has been flooding the country with high-powered beer, and the information thus obtained will be laid before a new federal grand jury in Chicago for indictments, it was learned here today.

A number of the reputed "higher-ups," involving well known persons in New York and Pennsylvania, have been involved in Levin's revelations, it was said

CHICAGO, Nov 14.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general in charge of prohibition, was expected to reveal in Washington today an amazing story of a beer and whisky ring with Chicago as one of its headquarters, Boston another and other eastern and middle western cities as "stations" in the system.

The information obtained by Mrs. Willebrandt is said finally to open the way to "blow the lid off" the nation-wide beer ring scandal charged here three weeks ago, but which became quiescent after a few days of publicity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Alarmed by the flood of "super-power" beer which is flooding many sections of the country, the house ways and means committee today took under consideration a proposal to place cereal beverage plants under strict government supervision.

If treasury recommendations are followed, cereal beverage producers cannot operate without federal licences, and will be required to pay the old internal revenue tax of $100 annually, formerly assessed against breweries.

Gen. L. C. Andrews, prohibition czar, told members of the committee if this tax was imposed, in addition to the alcohol tax he earlier recommended, the dry authorities would be in a position to stop the flood of high voltage beer that they are now unable to even partially stop.

DR. LANDRITH HERE SUNDAY

A special Christian Endeavor rally will be held in the First Methodist Protestant church at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening, preceding the preaching services at which Dr. Ira C. Landrith, Chicago, Christian Endeavor leader, Anti-Saloon league worker and at one-time candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket, will be the speaker.

The topic for the Christian Endeavor service, "How Can We Overcome the Spirit of Lawlessness?" will be led by Russell Shurte, president of the society. The program follows:

Hymn, "Toiling On"—Audience.
Hymn, "Help Somebody Today"—Audience.
Scripture reading, Romans 13:1-8—Led by Harold Risinger.
Vocal solo—Mrs. H. G. Moore.
Remarks.
Offertory selection—Miss Mary Eva Carroll.
Remarks by visiting officers.
Sentence prayers.
Closing hymn—Audience.
Mizpah benediction.

"Less suspicion, more open confidence in the country," says Mr. Atterbury "maintain everywhere, and that means better times for everyone, including railroads."

The country needs optimism based on cleaner understanding of conditions. There is absolutely nothing the matter with the United States in any direction, except doubt, pessimism.

In one of Racine's tragedies, a devoted wife tells her husband, "Don't seek to lose yourself, and you are saved." That's what should be said to every pessimist in the United States.

The jury in the Blazer case is unable to agree after 15 hours deliberation, and Dr. Blazer, who killed his crippled, idiotic daughter, after taking care of her for 32 years, was set free.

The judge told the jury it must convict of murder in the first degree or acquit the man. They did neither. To convict him of murder in the first degree would have been difficult for any jury.

There is, however, danger in the verdict. Other murders may result from what is practically an official decision that men under certain circumstances may use their own judgment about murder.

Counsel for Colonel Examines Documents of War Department.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—With his court-martial standing in recess until next Tuesday, counsel for Col. William Mitchell today began the examination of thousands of war department documents subpoaened for use in proving his charges of maladministration of the nation's air defense.

Some of the documents, hastily delivered to the court, prevented a projected adjournment, but the short recess was ordered so Mitchell's counsel might examine the documents necessary for his defense. The war department, however, was bitterly condemned by Representative Frank R. Reid, R., of Illinois, for its delay in delievering the official papers, first subpoenaed on November 2.

Scores of defense witnesses, meanwhile, began arriving in the capitol to take the stand for Mitchell. They included flying officers, congressmen, retired admirals and generals and a number of civilians, experienced in aviation. They came from all sections of the country.

An aftermath of the sensational testimony given the Mitchell court by Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the Shenandoah commander, will be heard Monday, when the Shenandoah court of inquiry reconvenes. Mrs. Lansdowne has been asked to appear before the latter court to explain her charges that Captain Paul J. Foley, an officer of the court, attempted to get her to give "false" testimony. Foley also will appear to deny the charge.

Captain Foley Quits As Judge Advocate Of Shenandoah Quiz

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The resignation of Capt. Paul J. Foley as judge advocate of the naval court that has been investigating the Shenandoah disaster was accepted today by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

Capt. Foley resigned following Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne's charge that he endeavored to persuade her to give "false testimony" before the court that would tend to "whitewash" the navy in the Shenandoah inquiry.

Maj. Henry Leonard, a retired officer of the marine corps, was appointed judge advocate in place of Foley.

Rear Admiral Sims Called as Witness For Col. Mitchell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Rear Admiral William Sims who for some years was to the navy what Colonel Wm. Mitchell has been to the army—a critic of the policies of his superiors—was subpoenaed today as a witness for the flying colonel when his trial by court martial is resumed next week.

Sims and Representative Frank Reid, chief counsel for Mitchell, had a long conference here this morning.

store manager engaged the youth in conversation until the merchant, accompanied by Patrolman James Haley, reached the place.

Blazier, Chambers said, at first denied having stolen the check from the store but upon reaching the city hall made a complete confession.

In the three robberies, entrance to the Chambers and Wilson store was made by prying loose a shutter which covered a window leading into a stock room in the rear of the establishment. Several weeks ago a large quantity of hams, bacon and other merchandise was stolen, but nothing except the blank checks, bearing the name of the grocery firm, were taken in the second and third arrests. Chambers was not aware of the theft of the blank checks until the boy's arrest.

The combination was battered from the safe in the robbery last Tuesday night.

Chambers said he had suspected the lad, but had no evidence to support his belief.

Mayor Charles Brown last night turned young Blazier over to Probation Officer John McShane, who took him to Lisbon today, where he was arraigned before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle.

Probation officials assert that the youth was made a ward of the court several months ago. He is said to have been a former inmate of the boy's industrial school at Lancaster. He is a son of Mrs. Lulu Blazier.

ABOLISH "SUB," LONDONER URGES

LONDON, Nov. 14.—New impetus for the abolition of submarines has resulted from the loss of the British submarine M-1.

Percy MacKinnon, chairman of Lloyds, declares that the time has come for the abolition of the submarine and urges that the proposals made at the Washington conference with regard to submarines be immediately taken up by the great naval powers.

Plans are being made for a naval burial service, to be held over the spot where the M-1 went down. It is probably that this service will be held next week.

SHIP IS TOWED BY BIG WHALE

Tacoma, Wash.—The greatest whaling season ever experienced at Alaskan stations has been recorded this year, declare skippers, whose vessels are arriving here for winter wharfage. Close to 500 whales were caught and processed during the summer. Whaling, which began off Kodiak island May 1, kept 18 ships busy for months, about 40,000 barrels of oil and an enormous quantity of fertilizer being prepered for shipment. No ambergris was found this season.

The largest whale harpooned this season measured 86 feet. The world's record whale is 98 feet 6 inches. The Alaskan monster, weighing about 100 tons, straightened out 400 feet of heavy hauser, besides towing the whaler seven miles before tiring out.

Whales were attracted to Alaskan waters this season, it is believed, by large schools of small fish, squids and halibut. Years when these species are abundant, whales are numerous. Sperm whales arrived in large numbers.

It is now thought the feeding grounds for sperm and finback whales lies off the coast of Africa, and by the end of October practically all of the Alaskan leviathans will have started for winter haunts.

A shipment of 300 salted whale tails were brought down destined for Japanese markets where this section of the mammal is as popular as turkey in America.

Several near traffic accidents, it is alleged, have occurred as a result of this practice. Council promised an investigation would be made.

BEIRUT, Nov. 14.—Nearly two hundred persons were killed in a battle between bandits and villagers in the town of Kawaba, near Asabaya.

Bandits attacked the town and killed 40 villagers, maltreating old men and women and children. The villagers gave battle until their ammunition was exhausted, and declared that they killed at least 150 of the bandits.

Rebels are reported to have made an unsuccessful attempt to capture Duma, near Damascus, and have done considerable damage in the region of Hasbeya, and some reports state that the Druses control the town.

The battle of Kawkaba is said to have resulted because the rebels charged that some of the villagers were aiding the French. Refugees declare that the rebels burned some of the houses in the town before retiring.

CAVE MAN WASN'T SO BRAVE, SAYS BESSIE LOVE, FILM STAR

Don't fret because the human race is growing smaller in stature, folks. Take the word of First National's diminutive screen star, Bessie Love, that it's all for the best.

Miss Love has one of the most inquiring intellects in films and she has just completed a study of evolution from the Neanderthal era to the present. Her conclusion is that the smaller we get in body the bigger we grow in "spine."

"Evolution clearly shows that, as stature decreases courage increases," says Bessie. "We often see pictures of the burly cave man hurling huge rocks, but the artist, to be correct, should show the cave man cravenly taking to his heels if he misses.

Miss Love's interest in this phase of science was occasioned by her work in the First National-Watterson R. Rothacker super-feature, "The Lost World," which deals with an expedition into the untracked Amazon region where the explorers find hundreds of great reptilian creatures of the Jurassic Age.

'BIG BEER RING' IS EXPOSED BY MILLIONAIRE

SCANDAL LOOMS

Information Will be Laid Before Federal Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Abraham Levin, millionaire whisky certificate broker, has made a complete confession of the operations of the so-called $9,000,000 "beer ring" which has been flooding the country with high-powered beer, and the information thus obtained will be laid before a new federal grand jury in Chicago for indictments, it was learned here today.

A number of the reputed "higher-ups," involving well known persons in New York and Pennsylvania, have been involved in Levin's revelations, it was said

CHICAGO, Nov 14.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general in charge of prohibition, was expected to reveal in Washington today an amazing story of a beer and whisky ring with Chicago as one of its headquarters, Boston another and other eastern and middle western cities as "stations" in the system.

The information obtained by Mrs. Willebrandt is said finally to open the way to "blow the lid off" the nation-wide beer ring scandal charged here three weeks ago, but which became quiescent after a few days of publicity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Alarmed by the flood of "super-power" beer which is flooding many sections of the country, the house ways and means committee today took under consideration a proposal to place cereal beverage plants under strict government supervision.

If treasury recommendations are followed, cereal beverage producers cannot operate without federal licences, and will be required to pay the old internal revenue tax of $100 annually, formerly assessed against breweries.

Gen. L. C. Andrews, prohibition czar, told members of the committee if this tax was imposed, in addition to the alcohol tax he earlier recommended, the dry authorities would be in a position to stop the flood of high voltage beer that they are now unable to even partially stop.

"Less suspicion, more open confidence in the country," says Mr. Atterbury "maintain everywhere, and that means better times for everyone, including railroads."

The country needs optimism based on cleaner understanding of conditions. There is absolutely nothing the matter with the United States in any direction, except doubt, passimism.

In one of Racine's tragedies, a devoted wife tells her husband, "Don't seek to lose yourself, and you are saved." That's what should be said to every pessimist in the United States.

The jury in the Blazer case is unable to agree after 15 hours deliberation, and Dr. Blazer, who killed his crippled, idiotic daughter, after taking care of her for 32 years, was set free.

The judge told the jury it must convict of murder in the first degree or acquit the man. They did neither. To convict him of murder in the first degree would have been difficult for any jury.

There is, however, danger in the verdict. Other murders may result from what is practically an official decision that men under certain circumstances may use their own judgment about murder.

There is scarcely a bad hill the country over, or a bit of going that tests the mettle of a motor car, where Jewett has not again and again met and decisively conquered competing cars of all sizes and types.

Such performance, backed by a car so substantially sturdy that it has set a new low record for service attention required, has resulted in sensational popularity for this fine sedan-built Jewett Coach. Sales have more than doubled those of a year ago!

Let nothing prevent you from seeing the improved Jewett Coach at your very first opportunity. Note its many new features that make for even greater comfort, driving ease and mechanical efficiency. Then you'll understand its sensational popularity!

CRIMINAL COURT OPENS MONDAY

Judge Harold Brennan Will Preside at Session.

Judge J. Harold Brennan of Wheeling will preside at the opening term of the November criminal court which opens Monday morning at New Cumberland. A large number of cases are on the calendar.

During the week a number of sentences were handed out by Judge Brennan after those arraigned pleaded guilty to charges contained in the indictments.

Mike Popff, charged with possession of liquor, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100. Mike Pacle was given 60 days and fined $100 on a similar charge. Thomas Presh, indicted on a robbery charge, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

James Shooshan and Rodney Johnson, indicted for being implicated in the robbery of the H. Fineman store in Chester, were sentenced to one year. Charles Beaver, involved in the same case, was discharged. He testified for the state. Arch Manypenny was given six months in jail and fined $50 for having a revolver in his possession.

The grand jury recommended that the auto license of Arch Ingram of Chester be revoked as a result of an accident in which Ingram ran down and killed a lad. The action was taken because Ingram failed to stop his machine after the accident.

GAS COMPANIES WIN SUIT POINT

Attorneys representing both the state and the gas companies, at a conference at Charleston, reached an agreement, which will be incorporated in Judge Morgan Owen's order denying a temporary injunction, whereby it is understood that the state will impose no penalties upon the companies for failure to pay their gross sales tax, pending a final hearing of the suit to have the law declared unconstitutional.

The agreement means that the companies will not have five percent added to their taxes for failure to pay on time, until after the case has been decided. The state, however, is understood to have reserved the right to proceed by legal means to collect the tax and the special counsel for the state tax commissioner are said to be considering the question of entering suits in another court to obtain judgments against the companies.

While the court's denial of a temporary injunction at first applied only to the Hope Natural, United Fuel and Reserve Gas companies, the three original litigants, it is understood that the order will apply to the nine other companies that field suits after the temporary order had been denied.

"Lucky George" Is Not Dazzled by Fortune

San Francisco, Cal.—George Campbell Carson, fifty-eight, former miner, lay on a cot in the University of California hospital here and tried to figure out just how he will spend millions of dollars—variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Convalescing from a minor illness, "Lucky George" has been informed of a decree of the United States Supreme court, which upheld his judgment of $20,000,000 damages against the American Smelting & Refining company for infringement of a patent.

"I'm not surprised," Carson said, but the light in his eyes told more truly the dawn of sudden realization that he, once known as a "desert rat," now ranks among the potentially wealthy.

"No," said Carson. "All I want to do now is to develop my interest in science. All my life I have been interested in science. Now I guess I ought to have enough resources to go into it and conduct original research work in physics.

"I've always wanted a little workshop and a laboratory. Now I'm going to have them. With that little laboratory—well—who knows what I may be able to do? Maybe something that will result in good to humanity.

"Worldly things? No. I'm not much interested. Of course I may do a little traveling—see a few things that I might not have seen otherwise, but most of all I want to put in my time in my laboratory and prove to myself and the world that the dreams I've had were real."

"IRON HORSE" BOOKED HERE

Now that the William Fox production, "The Iron Horse," is scheduled to start an engagement at the Ceramic theatre next week, many thousands of people are wondering how the picture obtained its name. To those acquainted with the ways of thinking of the American aboriginees, it is self-evident that the phrase, "The Iron Horse," is of Indian origin. As a matter of fact, during the vast amount of research done by the Fox scenario department, it was found that the originator of this phrase was Sitting Bull, the great war chief of the Sioux.

Sitting Bull was one of the most indomitable leaders of the red revolt against the invasion of the west by the white man. As a youth in the '50's and '60's, he sought to arouse his people to resist the invasion of their lands and the destruction of the game which was one of their chief means of sustenance. Together with Red Cloud and other war chiefs he led the Sioux in numerous attempts to stop the progress of the Central Pacific railroad. The chief evidence in this matter is to be found in the autobiography of Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). In this he quotes what was said to him personally by Sitting Bull as follows:

"The white man has taken most of our land. He has destroyed or given away the game that was our meat. In 1868 he arranged to build through the Indian's land a road on which ran Iron Horses that ate wood and breathed fire and smoke. The Iron Horse brought from the east men and women and children who took the land from the Indians and drove out the game."

This phrase fittingly described the Indian viewpoint of the strange new monster which had disrupted their lives. For many years this expression was little used, but since the tremendous success of the William Fox production, "The Iron Horse," that phrase has become part of the English language and it is now generally used not only by the masses, but also by poets, editors and writers of every kind and degree, in place of the less imaginative words, engine and locomotive.

Riga, where 20,000 were employed in the rubber industry before the war, has never regained her prestige in the rubber field, and today less than 1,000 are working in that industry.

Rising demand for American automobile tires in other countries sent the United States' rubber exports to more than $5,000,000 in a recent month, breaking all previous records.

Nearly 1,800,000 tons of bituminous coal were shipped from this to other countries last August, this being the heaviest exports since August, 1923.

Snowshoes for horses are being used in mountainous states of this country.

"Lucky George" Is Not Dazzled by Fortune

San Francisco, Cal.—George Campbell Carson, fifty-eight, former miner, lay on a cot in the University of California hospital here and tried to figure out just how he will spend millions of dollars—variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Convalescing from a minor illness, "Lucky George" has been informed of a decree of the United States Supreme court, which upheld his judgment of $20,000,000 damages against the American Smelting & Refining company for infringement of a patent.

"I'm not surprised," Carson said, but the light in his eyes told more truly the dawn of sudden realization that he, once known as a "desert rat," now ranks among the potentially wealthy.

Russia Is Encouraging Appreciation for Art

Moscow.—While the horny-handed son of toil and talk is told that he is of the aristocracy of Soviet Russia, schools are bringing a new intelligentsia into the country.

Persons who cannot read and write are regarded as defective—a great change in a few years. The reception of the Russian art exhibit in the United States and Canada has pleased Russians. The government newspapers, in expressing their satisfaction, show requisite spirit by explaining that this is the new school of Russian art—proletarian and not bourgeois.

I. E. Grabar, who has returned from the United States, says that the exhibition of 600 articles has had such a great success that it will be continued through the winter in various cities in North America.

Since the day the first one-cylinder car ran under its own power, the best engineering brains on earth have been striving to improve the engine . . .

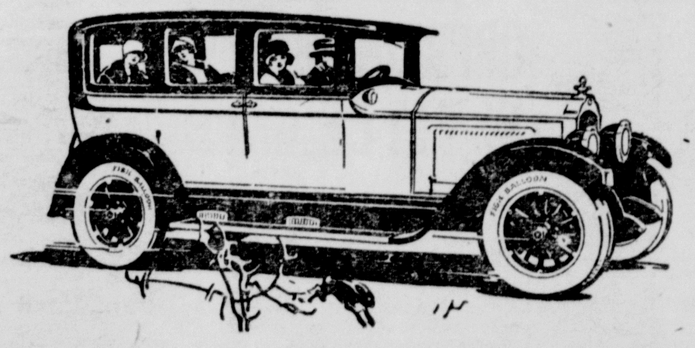

The one-cylinder car ran, and that was all. The two-cylinder car was noisy as a stone-crusher. Next came the "four-in-line." But, its ailments were many—Valve-grinding was a monthly rite. Carbon, a scourge. And every automotive engineer worthy of the name was determined to get rid of them . . .

FOLLOWED rapidly a myraid of improvements. Heretofore, all engines had been of the "T-head" variety. They ate gasoline and oil like a high-powered yacht and they wasted half of it . . .

THEN ALONG CAME one who moved both intake and exhaust valves to the same side of the cylinder. He cut off the overhanging eave—and presto!—the "L-head" motor. A tremendous gain in power. But owners still had to have their valves ground and their carbon periodically scraped away even as all, save "the elect," do nowadays . . .

ANOTHER TOOK the valves off the side, put them on the cylinder-top, and cut off the other overhanging gas-chamber. Hence "valve-in-head." But still valve-grinding. And carbon troubles. It crept under the valves. The faces became pitted. To maintain efficiency—carbon must be scraped as of old, and frequently . . .

FINALLY—the new school of thought in motor-design. Came an engine-idea which absolutely and completely revolutionized the automobile engine! . . . Charles Y. Knight produced and patented the sleeve-valve engine . . . "I'll go them all one better," said he. "At one fell swoop I'll scrap all those cams and push-rods, all those springs and rocker-arms—and by making a cylinder-head with but a single opening for the spark-plugs, I'll increase compression" . . .

RESULT:

. . . Multiplicity of valve-parts completly disappeared. Exit valve-grinding . . . No more pounding cams—noise cut to nothing . . . Absence of all spring pressure—added horsepower . . . And carbon troubles, the disease and eventual death of all other motors, were cured, once and for all. Carbon cannot harm the engine of a Willys-Knight. It is actually a helpful agent. Its serves to seal compression. Its only effect is to better this engine's functioning!

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to constantly tear down so fine a mechanism as a high-powered motor for the removal of a foreign substance and the grinding-away of its metal . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 65 to 118 more engine parts when 65 to 118 parts less can be made to serve the same purpose better . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 40 to 50 pieces of metal coming together in violent contact many times a second, causing distasteful noise, damaging vibration . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to depend on coiled springs to open and close a valve-mechanism 1100 times a minute. Those coils must weaken. That is inevitable, with every coil or recoil . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to carry valves requiring periodic and costly adjustment to the fraction of a hair—nor to depend upon small inadequate poppet-ports for intake and exhaust service . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to be obliged to lose the use of your car for hours and days, at the same time contributing easily one-half of the repairman's total yearly income as he grinds your valves and corrects your carbon complications . . .

In the patented sleeve-valve engine of the Willys-Knight are two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. . . Nothing to adjust. Nothing to replace or repair. . . Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a protective film of oil. For fine automobiles, the ultimate engine is the simplest engine. And the Knight sleeve-valve engine—the power-plant of your Willys-Knight—is the simplest of them all!

Russia Is Encouraging Appreciation for Art

Moscow.—While the horny-handed son of toil and talk is told that he is of the aristocracy of Soviet Russia, schools are bringing a new intelligentsia into the country.

Persons who cannot read and write are regarded as defective—a great change in a few years. The reception of the Russian art exhibit in the United States and Canada has pleased Russians. The government newspapers, in expressing their satisfaction, show requisite spirit by explaining that this is the new school of Russian art—proletarian and not bourgeois.

I. E. Grabar, who has returned from the United States, says that the exhibition of 600 articles has had such a great success that it will be continued through the winter in various cities in North America.

Since the day the first one-cylinder car ran under its own power, the best engineering brains on earth have been striving to improve the engine . . .

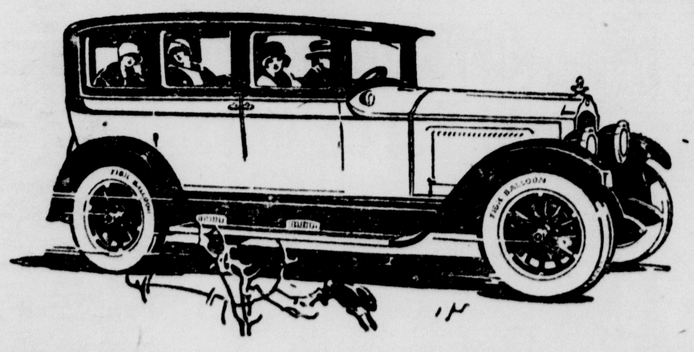

The one-cylinder car ran, and that was all. The two-cylinder car was noisy as a stone-crusher. Next came the "four-in-line." But, its ailments were many—Valve-grinding was a monthly rite. Carbon, a scourge. And every automotive engineer worthy of the name was determined to get rid of them . . .

FOLLOWED rapidly a myraid of improvements. Heretofore, all engines had been of the "T-head" variety. They ate gasoline and oil like a high-powered yacht and they wasted half of it . . .

THEN ALONG CAME one who moved both intake and exhaust valves to the same side of the cylinder. He cut off the overhanging eave—and presto!—the "L-head" motor. A tremendous gain in power. But owners still had to have their valves ground and their carbon periodically scraped away even as all, save "the elect," do nowadays . . .

ANOTHER TOOK the valves off the side, put them on the cylinder-top, and cut off the other overhanging gas-chamber. Hence "valve-in-head." But still valve-grinding. And carbon troubles. It crept under the valves. The faces became pitted. To maintain efficiency—carbon must be scraped as of old, and frequently . . .

FINALLY—the new school of thought in motor-design. Came an engine-idea which absolutely and completely revolutionized the automobile engine! . . . Charles Y. Knight produced and patented the sleeve-valve engine . . . "I'll go them all one better," said he. "At one fell swoop I'll scrap all those cams and push-rods, all those springs and rocker-arms—and by making a cylinder-head with but a single opening for the spark-plugs, I'll increase compression" . . .

RESULT:

. . . Multiplicity of valve-parts completly disappeared. Exit valve-grinding . . . No more pounding cams—noise cut to nothing . . . Absence of all spring pressure—added horsepower . . . And carbon troubles, the disease and eventual death of all other motors, were cured, once and for all. Carbon cannot harm the engine of a Willys-Knight. It is actually a helpful agent. Its serves to seal compression. Its only effect is to better this engine's functioning!

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to constantly tear down so fine a mechanism as a high-powered motor for the removal of a foreign substance and the grinding-away of its metal . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 65 to 118 more engine parts when 65 to 118 parts less can be made to serve the same purpose better . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to have from 40 to 50 pieces of metal coming together in violent contact many times a second, causing distasteful noise, damaging vibration . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to depend on coiled springs to open and close a valve-mechanism 1100 times a minute. Those coils must weaken. That is inevitable, with every coil or recoil . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to carry valves requiring periodic and costly adjustment to the fraction of a hair—nor to depend upon small inadequate poppet-ports for intake and exhaust service . . .

IT IS NOT EFFICIENCY to be obliged to lose the use of your car for hours and days, at the same time contributing easily one-half of the repairman's total yearly income as he grinds your valves and corrects your carbon complications . . .

In the patented sleeve-valve engine of the Willys-Knight are two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. . . Nothing to adjust. Nothing to replace or repair. . . Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a protective film of oil. For fine automobiles, the ultimate engine is the simplest engine. And the Knight sleeve-valve engine—the power-plant of your Willys-Knight—is the simplest of them all!

17-GAME SCHEDULE IS DRAFTED FOR CAMPAIGN

County Contests Come First With Half-dozen or More Crack State Teams Booked for Month of February; Three Open Dates Yet; No Decision Made on Coaching Arrangements.

A 17-GAME schedule, presenting East Liverpool high school passers with their county contests practically all in a bunch during the month of January and a series of battles during the month of February with a half dozen or more crack state opponents, is being lined up for the Blue and White basketball combine for the 1926 campaign.

According to announcement by Athletic Director O. V. Boone, no steps have been taken yet toward the appointment of a basketball coach, in the event that Boone himself decides to devote all his time to the grade school cage circuit which he promoted to a successful season last year.

The county schedule calls for games wit. Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem and Columbiana. No engagements have thus for been booked with Wellsville or Leetonia.

Warren, New Philadelphia, Dover, Steubenville, Bellaire and Akron Central—this is the outfit that the locals will be called upon to face in the closing month of the campaign and prior to the sectional and state tournaments.

From December 31, when the team will play its inaugural game of the schedule with the Alumni, until February 27, when the second tilt of a home and home series with Salem is played, there are only three open dates on the card, all of which will be filled before the season starts.

The schedule:—

Jan. 9.—Lisbon.
Jan. 15.—Salem.
Jan. 16.—At Bellaire.
Jan. 22.—Open.

March 5, 6.—Sectional tournament, probably at Muskingum.

Victory May Mean National Title For Dartmouth Squad

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—With a national title at stake for at least one of the contestants, the University of Chicago and Dartmouth University's football squads awoke this morning to a clear, brisk day of perfect football weather and keyed to top tension by the unusual prospect—for 1925—of playing a vital game without seaboots.

Not since international football began to assume its modern importance has the west waited for a game as they waited for the invasion of the big green team from the Hanover hills.

To the westerners a victory means a western prestige that goes beyond the confines of the "Big Ten."

For if Chicago upsets Dartmouth's title hopes, much that happened against Pennsylvania will be forgotten and forgiven.

Both teams were ready, tuned by Stagg and Hawley to their last ounce of speed and ability. No vital injuries touched either lineup. The field is in the best of condition and the play promises to be fast, a factor that many experts insist favors the men from New England.

Not in years has Chicago witnessed such football enthusiasm with a far stranger in her midst. Banquets, with the presidents of both universities presiding have featured pre-game celebrations. The "Loop" district is bright with the green nad white colors of Dartmout "Grads' from east and west and north and south, while the University of Chicago's midway, used to visitors en masse from "Big Ten" schools, is entertaining visitors en masse from New England.

A record crowd is expected to fill the stands with every ticket long since sold.

Stagg will start his regular lineup, with "Five Yards" McCarthy in the game some time during the afternoon. The star fullback is recovering from recent injuries. Hawley will take the field with the same team that faced Cornell.

Informal betting favored the easterners only slightly.

The lineup:

Chicago		Dartmouth
Lampe	L.E	Tulley
Henderson	L.T	Holleran
Hibben	L.G	Diehl
Baker	C	Davis
Wolff	R.G	Rubin
Hobschied	R.T	Parker
Yeisley	R.E	Sage
Curley	Q.B	McPhail
Kernwein	L.H	Lane
Marks	R.H	Oberlander
Francis	F.B	Horton

Opposes Circus Seats

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Ban Johnston, president of the American league, is against installing circus style seats at world series games. He contends it is not fair to contestants or fans to have the playing field made shorter by additional seats which permit freak home runs.

Harvard End Stricken

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Jack Abie, Harvard football end, has been stricken with appendicitis. Coaches were relying upon him to get the fight back into the Harvard team in preparation for the game with Brown today and Yale next Saturday.

GRID SEASON NEARS CLIMAX

By George Barry.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Upward of one million voices will lend encouragement and two million eyes will follow the ball this afternoon as intercollegiate football swings into the stern realities of the season in a series of big games from the Atlantic seaboard to the West coast. Yale and Princeton, defeated but by no means discountenanced, will decide the big three championship at New Haven before a crowd of 80,000. Almost as many will view the Washington-California contest at Berkeley, Calif., with the Coast title at stake.

In Chicago, the unbeaten Dartmouth team will attempt to wind up an eminently successful season by defeating the Chicago Maroon, one of the danger marks along the Western conference trail. The crowd at this game will be limited only by the rather meagre confines of the Chicago stadium.

Another capacity crowd will view the Syracuse-Colgate meeting at Archbold stadium, Syracuse. Traditional rivels of long standing, both teams will approach the game undefeated, lending additional interest to the encounter.

Alabama, also undefeated, will play Florida, and by all the laws of comparative scores, should win. Tulane, another contender for the southern title, has been coupled with Sewanee and should survive the issue.

Missouri, pace setters for the Valley conference, faces one of its hardest rivals in taking on Oklahoma. However, Missouri was expected to prevail.

So much for the unbeaten teams. Among the others, games of paramount importance ruled. The Big Ten conference championship, for example, was likely to be decided as a result of games between Michigan and Ohio State; Iowa and Minnesota and Northwestern and Purdue; at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, two of the East's ranking teams, were to have it out. At Atlanta, those archrivals, Georgia Tech and Georgia, were to meet.

The Penn State-West Virginia game at Morgantown, W. Va., also had a distinct bearing on the sectional championship as did the meeting between the Army and Columbia at the Polo grounds, New York. Another big game in the South called for Alabama Poly to face Vanderbilt.

Out on the West Coast, two other conference battles named Oregon Aggies and Oregon University and Southern California and Montana as rivals while in the Middle West, Detroit was to face W. & J., Carnegie Tech was coupled with Notre Dame.

At Providence, a discountenanced Harvard team was to make its first invasion of the town to play Brown. The latter was out to establish a record by beating the Crimson for the fourth straight year and the odds with the Brunionian eleven.

OBERLIN-MIAMI IN TITLE GAME

Wesleyan-Denison Resume Hostilities at Granville.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14. — While Ohio Wesleyan battles Denison at Granville today, Oberlin, joint holder of the leadership of the Ohio conference, clashes with Miami at Oxford. It is the final game of the season for the Congregationalists. Should either team lose an undisputed champion will probably emerge from the conference struggle.

Other conference games include: Baldwin-Wallace-Western Reserve, Cleveland; Case-Hiram, at Hiram; Ohio U.-Cincinnati, at Cincinnati; Ohio Northern-Muskingum, at New Concord; Otterbein-Heidelberg, Tiffin, and Wooster-Akron, at Akron.

WALKER-SARAZEN LEAD TOURNEY

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14.—Cyril Walker, former open champion, led a fast field of professional golfers at the beginning of the third round in the Princess Anne club open today with a card of 73-76—149. A stroke behind came Gene Sarazen with 150. Al Leach of Philadelphia and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids were tied for third and Leo Deigel was in fourth place with 153.

IMPERSONATING REFEREE, PLAYER MAKES TOUCHDOWN, BEATS RIVALS

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 14.—McChesney, injured captain of the Fairmont high school eleven impersonated the referee in Friday's game with Farmington and so dumbfounded the opposition that he had walked half the distance to the goal before the hoax was discovered. He ran the remainder of the distance for the only score of the game, Fairview, winning 6-0.

It was on the second play after the kick-off. Fairview received and all the while McChesney was in the lineup unnoticed in civilian clothes. On the second play McChesney sauntered over to his center andd emanded the ball. It was handed to him. The Farmington team thought he was an official about to penalize Fairview. McChesney started pacing in long strides toward his opponent's goal and after passing the safety man he ran the remainder of the distance and won the game.

The play was held legal because there were seven men on the line and four in the backfield. McChesney was the only man in motion before the ball was "snapped." The officials would allow no protest of the play, declaring it legal. Carl Ferguson, Fairview coach, invented the play.

W. V. U. REGULARS ARE CRIPPLED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Penn State, which held Notre Dame to a tie last week, came here today to help the West Virginia Mountaineers dedicate a new stadium.

The injury to four of their best players seriously handicapped the Mountaineers. Ed Morrison, quarterback; "Skeets" Farley and "Sleepy" Glenn, halfbacks, and Capt. "Red" Mahan, a guard, returned from the Boston college game on the casualty list. Furthermore, "Pete" Barnum, fullback, was injured practicing this week.

SEEKS REVENGE FOR 20-3 DEFEAT

CANTON, Nov. 14.—The professional grid classic of Ohio will be staged Sunday at Akron, where the Canton Bulldogs and Akron Pros will clash in the second half of the annual home and home series between the two clubs. It is a National Professional league engagement, and a victory for the Cantonians will place them above the 500 mark.

Akron won the initial encounter, 20-3, two of the touchdowns, however, coming in the last period when the Cantonians used forward passes at random in an effort to overcome the four point lead the up-staters had amassed in the third period when they completed a long forward pass.

Indications point to one of the stiffest battles of the season. The Bulldogs last week, in beating Cleveland 6-0, showed the best form of the season, and are anxious and eager to even up the count with the Rubber City eleven.

To Make Class Weight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, will be compelled to make the class poundage of 147 pounds at 2 o'clock for his battle against Sailer Freidman, Chicago challenger, in the Newark armory, November 25, under a new ruling of the New Jersey boxing commission, which stipulates that in future all ring champions appearing in New Jersey's no-decision bouts must make their class weights.

Reds-Bishops Battle

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Chief among this week's grid engagements in the Big Six is the renewal of the annual Denison-Ohio Wesleyan football game. The Methodists invade Granville today for the first gridiron game with the Baptists since 1922. It will be the 27th clash between the pair. The Bishops hold the edge to date, having won 15, lost nine and tied two.

Want Peck as Manager

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—The purchase of two National league baseball players, Elmer Smith, Cincinnati outfielder, and Johnny Couch, Philadelphia pitcher, has been announced by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. The club is also negotiating with the Washington Americans for the release of Roger Peckinpaugh, shortstop, who, if obtained, will act as manager.

Last Night's Fights

At New York—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., got the decision over Andy Tucker, New York, 10 rounds. Lew Perfetti, New York, got the decision over Tommy Milton, New Yory, 10 rounds. Vic Burrone, New York, got the decision over Bobby Wolgast, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.

Eight Schools Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Cross country runners from eight institutions will compete in the Middle Atlantic intercollegiate championship run over the Van Cortlandt park course this afternoon. Lafayette, Lehigh, New York university, Rutgers, Swarthmore, Union and Alfred university will be represented in the event.

Greb Decisions Marullo.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, today retains his title as middleweight champion, having received the decision over Young Marullo, of New Orleans, in a 15-round bout here last night.

OLD ELI IS FAVORITE IN CLASH WITH TIGER

Superior Record and Superior Line Tend to Give Bulldogs Edge; Yale Has Won 26 Games to Foe's 13, Nine Being Tied, and Has Kept Rival Away From Goal Line Since 1921.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Tradition, that unknown something which makes for glamor and ands enchantment to the commonplace, stalks the campus at New Haven today. It was a tradition almost as old and possibly as passe as the classic elms themselves but it made of the annual football game between Princeton and Yale an occasion such as the East knows but once or twice a year.

For upward of fifty two years, starting in the pre-victorian year of 1873, Yale and Princeton had been meeting on the gridiron and the act is still good. This year's number reckoned to be especially diverting, Yale being hailed as one of the finest teams extant while Princeton's stunning victory over Harvard stamped the Tiger with the hall mark of near-greatness.

As a matter of fact, considerable doubt existed as to whether the principals did not rate with the best in the land, in spite of the fact that Yale finishes second to Pennsylvania and Princeton lost to Colgate. It was a moot point as to whether either Pennsylvania or Colgate could repeat today. Many were pleased to doubt that either of them could.

For Yale, with successive decisions over Brown, the Army and Maryland at impressive scores, had amply redeemed that early season misstep against Pennsylvania, while Princeton looked slightly better than the best against Harvard, although the latter's weakness may have contributed to this impression.

Yale, of course, ruled the favorite and for two reasons. The first was its superior record, the second its superior line, one of the greatest in the country. Its recently Princeton record also indicated that it might hold a psychological edge over the Tiger. The latter has not crossed the Yale line since 1921, its lone victory that year being a 3 to 0 verdict by the famous team of destiny in 1922.

Yale, too, was away out in front on the grand total of victories for the series, having 26 decisions to 13 for Princeton, nine games ending in a tie.

However, this was another year and quite another Tiger team. It was an outfit that seemed to bear a striking resemblance to those 1922 semi-maniacs who knew not their own weakness. The present eleven has weak spots in its line but it also carries more punch than the 1922 team, Slager, Dignan and Prendergast being ball runners of more than average ability.

They figured to equal the activities of Kline, Bunnell and Cutler, of the Yale backfield, and to pass with greater deception and daring. In fact, Princeton was expected to take to the air at an early moment and keep right at it for the remainder of the afternoon.

It was the Tigers' only hope, in view of the generally acknowledged superiority of the Yale forwards.

Yale		Princeton
Gill	L.E	Moeser
Joss	L.T	Gates
Webster	L.G	Davis
Burt	Center	McMillan
Sturdahn	R.G	Crago
Benton	R.T	Rosengarten
Potts	R.E	Lea
Bunnell	Q.B	Gaulkins
Cutler	L.H	Slagle
Kline	R.H	Dignan
Allen	F.B	Gilligan

Both State and Michigan Expect to Win.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14.—Ohio State and Michigan, ancient rivals, clash here today, with both teams determined to win.

The Wolverines expect to run up a sensational score against the Buckeyes, but the Ohio lads have a powerful eleven that is expected to uncork some new plays. Ohio has lost to Iowa and tied Chicago.

However, backers of the Buckeye team point to Ohio State's 9 to 0 victory over Columbia as an indication of her real strength.

Michigan had its first upset of the season last Saturday at Chicago, when Northwestern surprised the entire football world by winning in the mud.

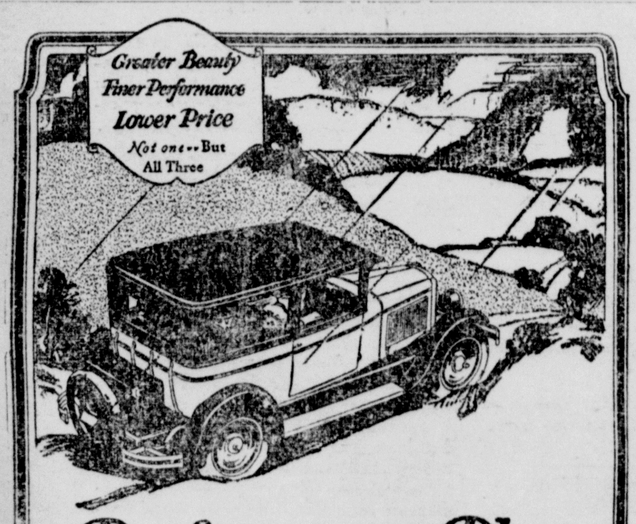

The lineup:

Oosterbaan	L.E	Cunningham (C)
Edwards	L.T	Nichols
Baer	L.G	Young
Brown (C)	C	Klein
Lovette	R.G	Hess
Hawkins	R.T	Mackey
Flora	R.E	Rowan
Friedman	Q.B	Karow
Gilbert	L.H	Marek
Gregory	R.H	Grim
Molenda	F.B	Clark

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Syracuse, Franklin and Marshall and Boston university will replace Columbia, St. Louis university and Knox on the Army football schedule next year.

Victory May Mean National Title For Dartmouth Squad

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—With a national title at stake for at least one of the contestants, the University of Chicago and Dartmouth University's football squads awoke this morning to a clear, brisk day of perfect football weather and keyed to top tension by the unusual prospect—for 1925—of playing a vital game without seaboots.

Not since international football began to assume its modern importance has the west waited for a game as they waited for the invasion of the big green team from the Hanover hills.

To the westerners a victory means a western prestige that goes beyond the confines of the "Big Ten."

For if Chicago upsets Dartmouth's title hopes, much that happened against Pennsylvania will be forgotten and forgiven.

Both teams were ready, tuned by Stagg and Hawley to their last ounce of speed and ability. No vital injuries touched either lineup. The field is in the best of condition and the play promises to be fast, a factor that many experts insist favors the men from New England.

Not in years has Chicago witnessed such football enthusiasm with a far stranger in her midst. Banquets, with the presidents of both universities presiding have featured pre-game celebrations. The "Loop" district is bright with the green nad white colors of Dartmout "Grads' from east and west and north and south, while the University of Chicago's midway, used to visitors en masse from "Big Ten" schools, is entertaining visitors en masse from New England.

A record crowd is expected to fill the stands with every ticket long since sold.

Stagg will start his regular lineup, with "Five Yards" McCarthy in the game some time during the afternoon. The star fullback is recovering from recent injuries. Hawley will take the field with the same team that faced Cornell.

Informal betting favored the easterners only slightly.

The lineup:

Chicago		Dartmouth
Lampe	LE	Tulley
Henderson	LT	Holleran
Hibben	LG	Diehl
Baker	C	Davis
Wolff	RG	Rubin
Hobschied	RT	Parker
Yeisley	RE	Sage
Curley	QB	McPhail
Kernwein	LH	Lane
Marks	RH	Oberlander
Francis	FB	Horton

Opposes Circus Seats

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Ban Johnston, president of the American league, is against installing circus style seats at world series games. He contends it is not fair to contestants or fans to have the playing field made shorter by additional seats which permit freak home runs.

Harvard End Stricken

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Jack Abie, Harvard football end, has been stricken with appendicitis. Coaches were relying upon him to get the fight back into the Harvard team in preparation for the game with Brown today and Yale next Saturday.

GRID SEASON NEARS CLIMAX

By George Barry.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Upward of one million voices will lend encouragement and two million eyes will follow the ball this afternoon as intercollegiate football swings into the stern realities of the season in a series of big games from the Atlantic seaboard to the West coast. Yale and Princeton, defeated but by no means discountenanced, will decide the big three championship at New Haven before a crowd of 80,000. Almost as many will view the Washington-California contest at Berkeley, Calif., with the Coast title at stake.

In Chicago, the unbeaten Dartmouth team will attempt to wind up an eminently successful season by defeating the Chicago Maroon, one of the danger marks along the Western conference trail. The crowd at this game will be limited only by the rather meagre confines of the Chicago stadium.

Another capacity crowd will view the Syracuse-Colgate meeting at Archbold stadium, Syracuse. Traditional rivels of long standing, both teams will approach the game undefeated, lending additional interest to the encounter.

Alabama, also undefeated, will play Florida, and by all the laws of comparative scores, should win. Tulane, another contender for the southern title, has been coupled with Sewanee and should survive the issue.

Missouri, pace setters for the Valley conference, faces one of its hardest rivals in taking on Oklahoma. However, Missouri was expected to prevail.

So much for the unbeaten teams. Among the others, games of paramount importance ruled. The Big Ten conference championship, for example, was likely to be decided as a result of games between Michigan and Ohio State; Iowa and Minnesota and Northwestern and Purdue; at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, two of the East's ranking teams, were to have it out. At Atlanta, those archrivals, Georgia Tech and Georgia, were to meet.

The Penn State-West Virginia game at Morgantown, W. Va., also had a distinct bearing on the sectional championship as did the meeting between the Army and Columbia at the Polo grounds, New York. Another big game in the South called for Alabama Poly to face Vanderbilt.

Out on the West Coast, two other conference battles named Oregon Aggies and Oregon University and Southern California and Montana as rivals while in the Middle West, Detroit was to face W. & J., Carnegie Tech was coupled with Notre Dame.

At Providence, a discountenanced Harvard team was to make its first invasion of the town to play Brown. The latter was out to establish a record by beating the Crimson for the fourth straight year and the odds with the Brunionian eleven.

OBERLIN-MIAMI IN TITLE GAME

Wesleyan-Denison Resume Hostilities at Granville.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14. — While Ohio Wesleyan battles Denison at Granville today, Oberlin, joint holder of the leadership of the Ohio conference, clashes with Miami at Oxford. It is the final game of the season for the Congregationalists. Should either team lose an undisputed champion will probably emerge from the conference struggle.

Other conference games include: Baldwin-Wallace-Western Reserve, Cleveland; Case-Hiram, at Hiram; Ohio U.-Cincinnati, at Cincinnati; Ohio Northern-Muskingum, at New Concord; Otterbein-Heidelberg, Tiffin, and Wooster-Akron, at Akron.

WALKER-SARAZEN LEAD TOURNEY

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14.—Cyril Walker, former open champion, led a fast field of professional golfers at the beginning of the third round in the Princess Anne club open today with a card of 73-76—149. A stroke behind came Gene Sarazen with 150. Al Leach of Philadelphia and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids were tied for third and Leo Deigel was in fourth place with 153.

IMPERSONATING REFEREE, PLAYER MAKES TOUCHDOWN, BEATS RIVALS

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 14.—McChesney, injured captain of the Fairmont high school eleven impersonated the referee in Friday's game with Farmington and so dumbfounded the opposition that he had walked half the distance to the goal before the hoax was discovered. He ran the remainder of the distance for the only score of the game, Fairview, winning 6-0.

It was on the second play after the kick-off. Fairview received and all the while McChesney was in the lineup unnoticed in civilian clothes. On the second play McChesney sauntered over to his center andd emanded the ball. It was handed to him. The Farmington team thought he was an official about to penalize Fairview. McChesney started pacing in long strides toward his opponent's goal and after passing the safety man he ran the remainder of the distance and won the game.

The play was held legal because there were seven men on the line and four in the backfield. McChesney was the only man in motion before the ball was "snapped." The officials would allow no protest of the play, declaring it legal. Carl Ferguson, Fairview coach, invented the play.

W. V. U. REGULARS ARE CRIPPLED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Penn State, which held Notre Dame to a tie last week, came here today to help the West Virginia Mountaineers dedicate a new stadium.

The injury to four of their best players seriously handicapped the Mountaineers. Ed Morrison, quarterback; "Skeets" Farley and "Sleepy" Glenn, halfbacks, and Capt. "Red" Mahan, a guard, returned from the Boston college game on the casualty list. Furthermore, "Pete" Barnum, fullback, was injured practicing this week.

SEEKS REVENGE FOR 20-3 DEFEAT

CANTON, Nov. 14.—The professional grid classic of Ohio will be staged Sunday at Akron, where the Canton Bulldogs and Akron Pros will clash in the second half of the annual home and home series between the two clubs. It is a National Professional league engagement, and a victory for the Cantonians will place them above the 500 mark.

Akron won the initial encounter, 20-3, two of the touchdowns, however, coming in the last period when the Cantonians used forward passes at random in an effort to overcome the four point lead the up-staters had amassed in the third period when they completed a long forward pass.

Indications point to one of the stiffest battles of the season. The Bulldogs last week, in beating Cleveland 6-0, showed the best form of the season, and are anxious and eager to even up the count with the Rubber City elevven.

To Make Class Weight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, will be compelled to make the class poundage of 147 pounds at 2 o'clock for his battle against Sailer Freidman, Chicago challenger, in the Newark armory, November 25, under a new ruling of the New Jersey boxing commission, which stipulates that in future all ring champions appearing in New Jersey's no-decision bouts must make their class weights.

Reds-Bishops Battle

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Chief among this week's grid engagements in the Big Six is the renewal of the annual Denison-Ohio Wesleyan football game. The Methodists invade Granville today for the first gridiron game with the Baptists since 1922. It will be the 27th clash between the pair. The Bishops hold the edge to date, having won 15, lost nine and tied two.

Want Peck as Manager

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—The purchase of two National league baseball players, Elmer Smith, Cincinnati outfielder, and Johnny Couch, Philadelphia pitcher, has been announced by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. The club is also negotiating with the Washington Americans for the release of Roger Peckinpaugh, shortstop, who, if obtained, will act as manager.

Last Night's Fights

At New York—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., got the decision over Andy Tucker, New York, 10 rounds. Lew Perfetti, New York, got the decision over Tommy Milton, New Yory, 10 rounds. Vic Burrone, New York, got the decision over Bobby Wolgast, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.

Eight Schools Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Cross country runners from eight institutions will compete in the Middle Atlantic intercollegiate championship run over the Van Cortlandt park course this afternoon. Lafayette, Lehigh, New York university, Rutgers, Swarthmore, Union and Alfred university will be represented in the event.

Greb Decisions Marullo.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, today retains his title as middleweight champion, having received the decision over Young Marullo, of New Orleans, in a 15-round bout here last night.

OLD ELI IS FAVORITE IN CLASH WITH TIGER

Superior Record and Superior Line Tend to Give Bulldogs Edge; Yale Has Won 26 Games to Foe's 13, Nine Being Tied, and Has Kept Rival Away From Goal Line Since 1921.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Tradition, that unknown something which makes for glamor and ends enchantment to the commonplace, stalks the campus at New Haven today. It was a tradition almost as old and possibly as passe as the classic elms themselves but it made of the annual football game between Princeton and Yale an occasion such as the East knows but once or twice a year.

For upward of fifty two years, starting in the pre-victorian year of 1873, Yale and Princeton had been meeting on the gridiron and the act is still good. This year's number reckoned to be especially diverting, Yale being hailed as one of the finest teams extant while Princeton's stunning victory over Harvard stamped the Tiger with the hall mark of near-greatness.

As a matter of fact, considerable doubt existed as to whether the principals did not rate with the best in the land, in spite of the fact that Yale finishes second to Pennsylvania and Princeton lost to Colgate. It was a moot point as to whether either Pennsylvania or Colgate could repeat today. Many were pleased to doubt that either of them could.

For Yale, with successive decisions over Brown, the Army and Maryland at impressive scores, had amply redeemed that early season misstep against Pennsylvania, while Princeton looked slightly better than the best against Harvard, although the latter's weakness may have contributed to this impression.

Yale, of course, ruled the favorite and for two reasons. The first was its superior record, the second its superior line, one of the greatest in the country. Its recently Princeton record also indicated that it might hold a psychological edge over the Tiger. The latter has not crossed the Yale line since 1921, its lone victory that year being a 3 to 0 verdict by the famous team of destiny in 1922.

Yale, too, was away out in front on the grand total of victories for the series, having 26 decisions to 13 for Princeton, nine games ending in a tie.

However, this was another year and quite another Tiger team. It was an outfit that seemed to bear a striking resemblance to those 1922 semi-maniacs who knew not their own weakness. The present eleven has weak spots in its line but it also carries more punch than the 1922 team, Slager, Dignan and Prendergast being ball runners of more than average ability.

They figured to equal the activities of Kline, Bunnell and Cutler, of the Yale backfield, and to pass with greater deception and daring. In fact, Princeton was expected to take to the air at an early moment and keep right at it for the remainder of the afternoon.

It was the Tigers' only hope, in view of the generally acknowledged superiority of the Yale forwards.

Yale		Princeton
Gill	LE	Moeser
Joss	LT	Gates
Webster	LG	Davis
Burt	Center	McMillan
Sturdahn	RG	Crago
Benton	RT	Rosengarten
Potts	RE	Lea
Bunnell	QB	Gaulkins
Cutler	LH	Slagle
Kline	RH	Dignan
Allen	FB	Gilligan

Both State and Michigan Expect to Win.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14.—Ohio State and Michigan, ancient rivals, clash here today, with both teams determined to win.

The Wolverines expect to run up a sensational score against the Buckeyes, but the Ohio lads have a powerful eleven that is expected to uncork some new plays. Ohio has lost to Iowa and tied Chicago.

However, backers of the Buckeye team point to Ohio State's 9 to 0 victory over Columbia as an indication of her real strength.

Michigan had its first upset of the season last Saturday at Chicago, when Northwestern surprised the entire football world by winning in the mud.

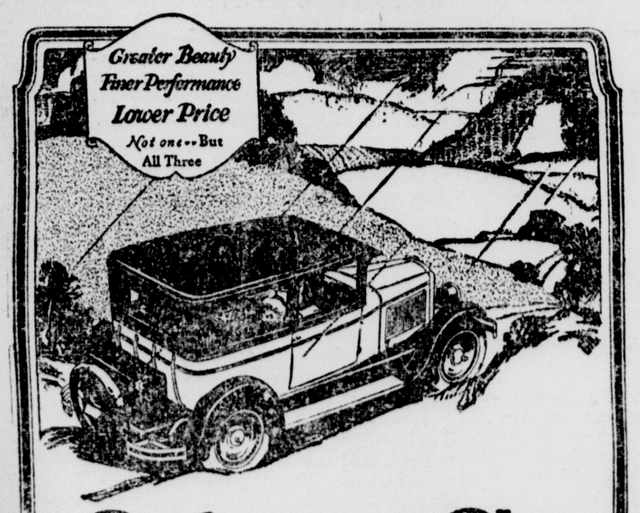

The lineup:

Oosterbaan	LE	Cunningham (C)
Edwards	LT	Nichols
Baer	LG	Young
Brown (C)	C	Klein
Lovette	RG	Hess
Hawkins	RT	Mackey
Flora	RE	Rowan
Friedman	QB	Karow
Gilbert	LH	Marek
Gregory	RH	Grim
Molenda	FB	Clark

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Syracuse, Franklin and Marshall and Boston university will replace Columbia, St. Louis university and Knox on the Army football schedule next year.

Another important change puts back the Notre Dame game to November 13, two weeks before the annual battle with the Navy.

Told of Death of Son Who Enlisted Under False Name

Washington.—The story of a runaway boy who enlisted in the navy under a assumed name and was never again heard of by his mother until he perished with the sinking of the submarine S-51 was just filed at the pension bureau. The mother is Mrs. Catherine McCarthy of New York. The son, Sylvester McCarthy, who enlisted some time ago as "John J. McCarthy," gave as his next kin the name of an aunt. She was notified of the boy's death and carried the news to his mother, who filed the claim.

Real Winter Comfort at Low Cost

To drive in comfort this winter you should have complete protection against rain, sleet, snow and wind. Only the finest closed car construction can give you that.

Doors and windows fit and stay tight to keep out wind and water. Rain or snow cannot penetrate the Fisher V-V one-piece windshield which gives you perfect vision and ventilation. Long semi-elliptic springs and balloon tires take the jars out of frozen roads.

Add to body comfort the safety of semi-reversible steering and equalized brakes and the assurance of a motor that always starts easily, and you can realize why Chevrolet spells winter comfort.

Let us show you the quality features of this fine closed car and explain how easy it is for you to own one this winter.

Told of Death of Son Who Enlisted Under False Name

Washington.—The story of a runaway boy who enlisted in the navy under a assumed name and was never again heard of by his mother until he perished with the sinking of the submarine S-51 was just filed at the pension bureau. The mother is Mrs. Catherine McCarthy of New York. The son, Sylvester McCarthy, who enlisted some time ago as "John J. McCarthy," gave as his next kin the name of an aunt. She was notified of the boy's death and carried the news to his mother, who filed the claim.

Real Winter Comfort at Low Cost

To drive in comfort this winter you should have complete protection against rain, sleet, snow and wind. Only the finest closed car construction can give you that.

Doors and windows fit and stay tight to keep out wind and water. Rain or snow cannot penetrate the Fisher V-V one-piece windshield which gives you perfect vision and ventilation. Long semi-elliptic springs and balloon tires take the jars out of frozen roads.

Add to body comfort the safety of semi-reversible steering and equalized brakes and the assurance of a motor that always starts easily, and you can realize why Chevrolet spells winter comfort.

Let us show you the quality features of this fine closed car and explain how easy it is for you to own one this winter.
